JULIAN ASSANGE LOSES COURT BATTLE TO STOP U.S. EXTRADITION

London High Court on Friday overturned a lower court ruling that barred the WikiLeaks founder's extradition from the UK to the US

HOME SECY PRITI PATEL WILL HAVE FINAL SAY

The high court asked the lower court judge to send the extradition request to Home Secretary Priti Patel, who will have the final say on whether to extradite Assange. Assange's fiancee Stella Moris said an appeal will be filed. The lower court had rejected Assange's extradition saying his mental health was too fragile to withstand the American criminal justice system

COURT ACCEPTS U.S. WORD ON FAIR PLAY

- The high court allowed the extradition after accepting the US' assurance that it would treat Assange humanely
- Assange, 50, is currently lodged at Belmarsh Prison in London. He is wanted in the US over the publication of classified military and diplomatic documents in 2010 and 2011 P12

Varun Singh still critical, but stable

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

GROUP Captain Varun Singh, the sole survivor of the Mi17V5 helicopter crash in which Chief of Defence Staff General Bipin Rawat and 12 others were killed on Wednesday near Conoor in Tamil Nadu, continues to be critical but stable, said sources. He is in the intensive care unit at the Command Hospital in Bengaluru, where he was admitted on Thursday evening.

According to sources, Command Hospital, like any Defence hospital, has the mechanism to share the expertise of any civil and private hospital in the interest of the patient's treatment. So far, the Air Force Hospital has not reached out to any corporate hospital for help regarding the injured officer's treatment, they added.

"Doctors and surgeons in Forces specialise in trauma care. They are well trained to take care of war and trauma injuries. If need be, they can seek the best help possible for treatment of their patients from any other hospital," said a source. P7

Retd officers can enter CDS race?

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

WITH the cremation of Chief of Defence Staff (CDS) General Bipin Rawat, the process to select his successor is expected to be expedited. Whether or not the talent pool to pick his successor would include retired officers is not clear, though the global trend is to promote a serving chief to the high office, a senior officer said.

Technically though, the government would be well within its rights to recall a retired officer for the position, as the post of CDS has not been ratified as an Act of Parliament, another officer informed. "The position of CDS has been created as per an Executive Order of the government. So, as of now, nothing stops the government from appointing a retired officer as CDS," he said.

Army Chief General M M Naravane is the senior most among his peer group, as Air Chief Marshal V R Chaudhari and Navy Chief Admiral R Hari Kumar took charge recently. While Gen Naravane is due to retire in April 2022, the two-year fixed tenures of the other two will end in 2023.

Had tragedy not struck, General Rawat would have signed off in December 2023.

The formal process to name the successor is initiated by the Chief of Integrated Defence Staff to the Chairman, Chiefs of Staff Committee. The Chiefs of Staff Committee comprises the Army, Navy and IAF chiefs. The request is forwarded to the defence ministry, which forwards it to the Cabinet Committee on Security for selection. The CDS is vested with a whole lot of powers on procurement, modernisation, promotions and postings. P9

Industrial production at 8-month low in Oct; current growth cycle not durable, says Nomura

Muted IIP growth casts shadow over economic recovery

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

AFTER showing some signs of improvement, India's industrial production growth slipped to an eight-month low of 3.2% in October, a festive month when the output should have been better. Performance of the eight core industries was muted by the poor show of the manufacturing sector.

According to the data released by the National Statistical Office on Friday, the manufacturing sector, which constitutes 77.63% of the Index of Industrial Production (IIP), grew at tepid 2.04% in October. Mining activity grew 11.4%, while power generation rose 3.1%. The IIP had grown by 4.5% in October 2020.

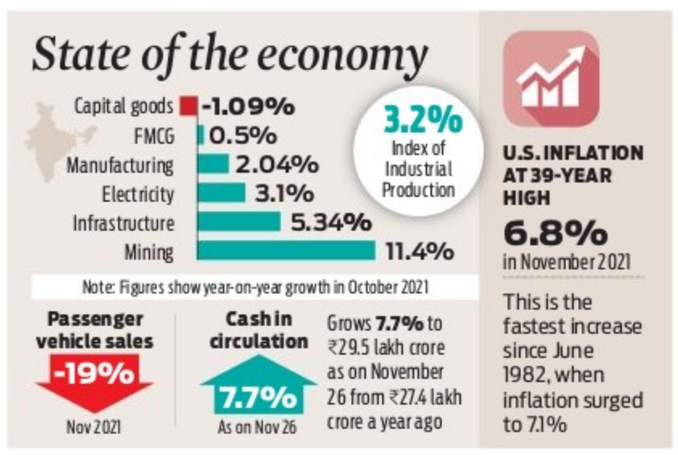
Capital and consumer goods, which indicate revival in demand, also presented a bleak picture. Capital goods output dropped 1.1% in October compared with a 2.4% growth in September. Despite being the festive month, consumer durables contracted 6.1% against 18.1% growth in October 2020.

Consumer non-durables (fast moving consumer goods), grew just 0.5% in October, against 7.3% growth a year ago.

Experts say the trend during the festive month shows recovery is not sustainable and that IIP growth is likely to remain sluggish in the near future.

"The disaggregated data does not provide convincing signals of the recovery becoming durable and broad-basing further, with capital goods and consumer durables reporting a YoY contraction in October 2021," said ICRA chief economist Aditi Nayar.

Indian economy grew 8.4% in the second quarter of FY22. Many rating agencies have already cut the country's growth forecast. On Friday, Japanese brokerage Nomura said the current growth cycle being witnessed in India is not durable and will peak by the first half of 2022. It said the recovery has been uneven, hurting consumption of lower-income households, and a sustained capital expenditure cycle is also not in sight. "Overall, we do not see the current growth cycle as durable. With mixed growth, high inflation and wider twin deficits, we expect India's risk premium to rise and the RBI to catch up as it falls behind the curve," its analysts said, citing low vaccination drive and stretched government finances.



Omicron can escape vax immunity: Dr Coetzee

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

WITH the Omicron variant of SARS-CoV-2 virus already in India, there can be no place for complacency on the part of the people despite completing vaccination, as this variant is able to escape vaccine immunity within four months of completion of vaccine dosage, Dr Angelique Coetzee, Chairperson, South African Medical Association, who first flagged the highly mutated variant in South Africa, told The New Indian Express in an exclusive interview.

While the intensity of symptoms with Omicron is less in those who are vaccinated, Dr Coetzee said she observed this vaccine immunity-escape capability of Omicron from data collected on patients who were positive with this variant.

"We have two major vaccines here (in South Africa): Pfizer and Johnson & Johnson. In both cases, the data I have collected has shown that people who were vaccinated in July with both doses have been reinfected or even had a breakthrough infection with Omicron. This means that one can't be complacent and stay away from getting tested if symptoms show after three months of vaccination," she stressed.

She said Omicron patients presented "very different" symptoms as compared to those infected by the Delta variant. "I have seen nearly 600 patients with the Delta variant, and the symptoms mainly were fever, sore throat, cough, loss of smell and taste, and low saturation. But in Omicron, none of these exist. It is mainly body ache, severe headache, myalgia and fatigue. A test after 24-48 hours of these symptoms is important. If you test early there are chances of testing false negatives," she said.

NEAR 100% VOTING IN COUNCIL ELECTIONS

RAMU PATIL @ Bengaluru

THE polling for 25 Legislative Council seats from 20 local body constituencies, which is set to reflect the mood in rural areas and determine the ruling BJP's efforts to gain a majority in the 75-member Upper House, recorded a high voter turnout of 99.8 per cent on Friday.

The results of the intensely-fought biennial elections will be announced on December 14. The elections to the 25 seats were conducted as the terms of 14 Congress, seven BJP and four JDS members are ending in January 2022. This time, the voter turnout was slightly higher than 99.6 per cent recorded in these constituencies in December 2015.

Farm unions shift focus to full debt waiver in Punjab

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

FLUSHED with success in forcing the Centre to rollback the three contentious farm sector laws, farmers will now press the Punjab government to honour the Congress promise made in 2017 on complete debt waiver for tillers.

They intend to start an indefinite protest if the government fails to implement it. The estimated size of Punjab's farm debt ₹1.25 lakh crore.

On the flip side, the bar imposed by farmer unions on election campaigning in villages is now off. Punjab will go to polls along with four other states in just a few months.

Talking to this newspaper, BKU leader Harinder Singh Lakhowal said, "The state government has already accepted most of our demands but the main one on debt waiver is still pending. Once we reach home, farmer unions will hold individual and collective meetings and give the state government an ultimatum to waive off loans as promised by the Congress before it came to power in 2017. If they fail to do so, we will not allow their candidates, leaders and party workers to enter villages for campaign."

Another farmer leader Sukhdev Singh Kokri Kalan said they will call a state-level meeting of their union after returning home from Delhi and decide on the strategy to pressure the Channi government to waive off farm loans. "Political leaders can enter villages for campaigning, but we will give them set of questions to help us make an informed choice on which party to vote," he added.

A third leader, Omkar Singh, echoed them. "We will hold meetings to build pressure on debt waiver in Punjab," he said.

DISCHARGE RULES

Covid-19 patients can be discharged if:

- Symptom-free 10 days after infection
- Only after 2 negative RT-PCR reports 24 hours apart
- No fever or any other symptoms for last three days before discharge
- Maintain saturation of above 95% for four consecutive days
- Breathlessness, other clinical symptoms are fully treated

CIVIC BODY STARTS TO CLEAR ENCROACHMENT ON CM's ORDER

Illegal structures on 2.2 acres in Srinivasapura being removed; Move after plaint from ex-Mayor

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ON the directions of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) officials started the exercise of clearing encroachments on 2.21 acres of land in Yelahanka Hobli, Srinivasapura village in survey number 15 on Friday.

The CM issued the directives based on a complaint from former mayor NR Ramesh against the alleged illegal occupation of 7.20 acres of land in the same survey number and encroachment of 2.21 acres of land. Talking to TNIE, Ramesh alleged, "The tahsildar and revenue inspectors falsely acquired one acre of land to help Congress candidate contesting the Council elections from Bengaluru Urban, Yousuf Sharrief."

He said, "Land on survey number 15 is spread across 11.01 acres. In 2007, the government issued a notification to auction 7.20 acres and retain 3.20 acres on the eastern side of the land. After the last date for notification ended, Sharrief made a special appeal before the DC and tahsildar seeking to participate. The DC refused to accept the application. Since there were not many takers for the land, Sharrief, using his contacts, got the land. He also violated the procedure in paying for the land. The government rates were not paid on time and amounts were deposited in installments. The DC did not take action and instead with the tahsildar made five sale deeds and issued five conversion orders."

Ramesh said that in 2014, an announcement was made that 2.20 acres of land on the same survey number would be used to set up a solid waste management processing plant. But the land was not acquired and the land got encroached. With regards to the remaining 1.01 acres of land, the area revenue inspector, to help Sharrief, submitted a false document to the DC office, stating that villagers are voluntarily handing over the land to the government and to Sharrief to make pathway to his property.

"Since the entire acquisition and sale a scam, the chief minister has also ordered the Bengaluru urban DC to recover one acre of land. I have also requested the CM to order for a CID probe into the sale and occupation of 7.20 acres of land," Ramesh said.

Bescom moots power tariff hike

ENS @Bengaluru

CLOSE on the heels of power tariff revision, the Bangalore Electricity Supply Company Limited (Bescom) has proposed to the Karnataka Electricity Regulation Commission (KERC) to hike power tariff.

Bescom has proposed to KERC to hike the tariff by Rs 1.23 to 1.50 per unit. Officials in Bescom said the proposal is similar to what was made last year also. "It is an annual exercise to submit our proposals seeking revision in power tariff and after which KERC hears the case on why the proposal has been made and then the final announcement is done. KERC usually does not accept the proposal made, but does announce an annual revision," a Bescom official on condition of anonymity said.

Meanwhile, Bescom officials said that the proposal was sent to KERC three days back. KERC officials said the decision on whether to accept or reject or redefine the proposal will be made at a later stage.

Data on vaccinated parents incomplete, tough to validate

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@Bengaluru

THE department of public instruction had made an attempt to collect data on the status of vaccination of parents in government schools across the state, but the data is incomplete and cannot be used. A top official from the department revealed that the data being collected has not been consolidated from various places.

President of Karnataka State High School Association H K Manjunath told TNIE that a survey on vaccination of parents was conducted, and teachers gave the statistics to the department. "A month and a half ago, teachers were asked to trace those who were vaccinated and those who were not, and the status of vaccine – one dose or two doses. Their location was also traced and given to the department, but should have gone to the medical personnel," explained Manjunath.

Swab samples of school students being collected at a government high school in Bhuvaneshwari Nagar, Magadi Road, in Bengaluru on Friday | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

The survey is one of many that teachers have been part of since the onset of Covid. However, the department considers the exercise inefficacious, as once the data comes to the department, it has to be validated. "Validation of data of 1.6 crore people is going to be difficult. Self-reporting is not a great option," an official said. The department's only option is to randomly approach parents and convince them to get double vaccinated.

Minister for Primary and Secondary Education BC Nagesh had told reporters on Thursday that parents cannot be forced to get vaccinated, and the Supreme Court does not mandate vaccination yet. However, they are being convinced to take the second dose. "As a rule, we cannot tell parents that we won't let students in, should parents not have a double vaccination certificate," said the minister.

Another official told TNIE that it is easier to convince parents in rural areas, as there is a camaraderie between parents and teachers, and a one-to-one connection lacking in urban areas.

CENTRE REVOKES GST EXEMPTION; REVIEW IT, SAYS UBER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AMID concerns on its effects on riders and auto drivers, Uber India has asked the Central Government to reconsider its decision to levy Goods and Service Tax (GST) on app-based auto rides.

The app-based cab and rickshaw service asked that the decision be reconsidered, citing difficulties for both riders and drivers. A statement released by Uber said, "This tax will lead to a rise in platform fares and a corresponding drop in demand. Riders and drivers will both lose out in this scenario."

"Lakhs of auto drivers across India rely on Uber and other applications to earn a living. Riders, especially women and the elderly, like booking an auto via an app because of the safety and convenience that comes with it. But they also value affordability," an Uber spokesperson had stated.

The company further stated that the shift towards street-hailed autos means that the revenue generated on taxing app-based autos would be "marginal, at best."

The decision to tax app-based auto rides had come in only a few days after the Karnataka Transport Department announced a hike in fares for auto drivers.

The revoking of Goods and Services Tax exemption on app-based auto services will come into force from January 1, 2022.

During his visit to schools and department offices, Primary and Secondary Education Minister B C Nagesh observed bouquets and books wrapped in plastic. As per government orders, plastic carry bags, flags, plates, cups, spoons, thermocol and plastic bead-based articles are prohibited. The use of such items has been prohibited at functions and events held at all educational institutes and schools. ENS

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

11th December : Aquarius is still my key celestial sign. It's an interesting combination with Capricorn, the other zodiac sign of the moment. When we put them together, we get the image of a period of time which is highly disciplined and focused, when success is gained through the right mixture of business-like common sense and a determination to put the highest ideals into practice. Sounds intense!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Conditions at work may have been confusing and your mind may be working overtime trying to fathom why colleagues are behaving as they are. Certainly someone close does have something to explain to you. Even in leisure activities you want to come top, but then Arien ambition can be an example to us all.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The Moon has now intervened to remind you that you must not delude yourself about a particular relationship any longer. As a naturally down-to-earth person you must focus on the facts, not your fantasies. It's also a perfect moment for a family party, just as long as everyone leaves their worries at the door.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
What transpires over the next few days is likely to have quite a dramatic influence on your ideas. In particular, you may be concerned that you are losing control of the debate, a fear which is far from the truth. The answer to your current question lies in your family background, perhaps in the place in which you grew up.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Mars is a planet which has the ability to produce a sharp turnaround in your position. The question now is whether you have the maturity and strength of character to carry other people along with you. The Moon's challenge to your sign implies that you do, but only if you truly understand how they feel.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Even though it's the weekend, those of you who are sensitive to coming events know that you must give a little thought to professional matters, perhaps on behalf of a friend or loved one. Life's pleasures will take care of themselves, so spend a little time cheering up friends and partners who have been feeling low.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There is no doubt that you will come through the present period with flying colours, even though partners may be in a somewhat petulant and unpredictable mood. Please be patient and make allowances for those who lack your vision. Your self-sacrificing ideals are surfacing and charitable work is beckoning.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
This is a suitable time to improve your income by making a leap of faith. As ever, though, you must take total responsibility for such a move and not blame anyone else if your expectations are not fulfilled. There could be news of an addition to your family, or at least more space at home, either of which will be welcome.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Nobody can deny that you have a shrewd understanding of the truth. However, this is no reason why friends and colleagues should accept what you say without question, all the more so if money is involved. If a social engagement is cancelled don't worry about it - organise something even better in its place.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It is perfectly human to find fault and entirely reasonable to be irritated by people who are acting out of character. Yet given that your personal life is thriving, you have little to complain about. This is, as it happens, a splendid day for making shrewd investments and picking up amazing bargains.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
These are hectic and rather turbulent days, ones when you must come to terms with your anger and resentment and learn how to deal with aggression. This doesn't mean going off the deep end, but standing up for yourself and being crystal clear about your rights. Watch out for delays when travelling and a new twist in a legal saga.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
There is no point in trying to hold on to the past or dwelling on what might have been. Such attitudes will hinder you from acknowledging all the social, emotional and romantic advantages which are now coming your way. It's a secretive day, a time for discreet flirtations and hidden encounters. Enjoy yourself!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Over the coming week negotiations will be tough and concerned with practical details. You'll be forced back down to earth, perhaps finally realising the seriousness of your situation. Begin the process of reassessment today; consult friends and partners who have been there - and here - before. And learn from their experience.

'Omicron can strike within 4 months of vaccination'

Doctor who identified variant says hospitalisations on the rise; clinical symptoms very different from Delta

CHETANA BELAGERE
@ Bengaluru

DR ANGELIQUE COETZEE, Chairperson, South African Medical Association, the doctor who first identified Omicron, says symptoms of this variant, though mild, are easy to miss and even those vaccinated three or four months earlier can be reinfected. Treatment is a mild dose of cortisol with Ibuprofen, to recover faster. She requests pharma companies to come up with tablets to end the pandemic, as it is difficult to reach injectables to poorer countries. Excerpts:

How did you know this was not the same strain of Covid-19 that was already in circulation in South Africa?
It is all about the clinical picture. With clinical experience, I could tell that the first patient I saw on that day had different symptoms, which were close to Beta. The same day, I saw seven new patients presenting similar symptoms, which were different from Delta. So this was worrying. I reported this to the advisory committee of the minister, and that's how we found it.

How are symptoms of Omicron different from Delta?
Delta symptoms are fever, low saturation, sore throat, cough, loss of taste or smell, while Omicron presents with body ache, especially muscle pain, severe headache and extreme fatigue. Intensity of symptoms is less intense for vaccinated people. But children below the age of 13 present with sore throat and fever, and loss of appetite. Interestingly, with Delta, we also saw diarrhoea on the third or fourth day, but with Omicron, there is no diarrhoea.

Since the day you identified this variant till now, are the cases mild or has it advanced?
A The number of admissions is slowly rising in hospitals again, it's nothing compared with Delta. Unfortunately, hospital data doesn't distinguish between Delta and Omicron. It (Omicron) is spreading fast. There is a high reinfection rate and breakthrough infections too. But the illness, compared to Delta, is mild. Within the next two weeks, we will know whether this is a predominantly mild disease or not.

Is there any data on time gap for reinfection by Omicron, among those vaccinated?
A majority of the cases are vaccinated with either Pfizer or Johnson & Johnson. Most of those with breakthrough infections were vaccinated between July and end of August. We had one patient vaccinated in the beginning of October and one or two in September. But half of them were vaccinated in July. Which means they were reinfected in just four months. So you can't think you are immune just because you were vaccinated less than three months ago.

What has been the treatment strategy?
At this stage, I know a lot of specialists will say you should not start with cortisol treatment early in the disease, but with Omicron, if you start with a mild dose of cortisol then the only other medicine we have prescribed is Ibuprofen. It works extremely well. Patients recover in three to four days.

Data from South Africa shows hospitalisation has gone up in children. Is Omicron leading to hospital admissions in children or the unvaccinated?
The answer may not be very easy. Children are not vaccinated. Omicron is a fast-spreading viral infection. But admissions in hospitals in South Africa were not because of Omicron. Admissions increased for flu and other respiratory infections, but tested positive in hospital. Unfortunately, they are reported as Covid cases. But they are not primarily sick because of that.

Travel ban and your take on this?
It is not going to help. Do not close borders. Instead, tell your people to stay away from crowds, wear masks, get vaccinated. Unfortunately, the mildness of symptoms is such that if you are not alert then you are not going to see it. It may already be there everywhere.

If you have to give us five solutions to end this pandemic?
Vaccinate, Vaccinate. Boosters, boosters. Follow Covid-appropriate behaviour. Communicate clinical symptoms of new variants to people. It doesn't help them to know there is Omicron and they don't know what to look out for.

Repeat testing part of new discharge protocol

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TO put an end to confusion over protocol on discharge of patients with Omicron, the Karnataka health department on Friday released detailed guidelines.

International travellers can now opt for treatment at notified private healthcare facilities.The cost of treatment will be borne by the travellers themselves.

Patients can be discharged if symptom-free 10 days after the onset of symptoms, and are negative in two RT-PCR tests 24 hours apart. "The patient can be discharged only after two negative RT-PCR reports 24 hours apart. If the report is positive, the test should be repeated after 48 hours," the circular stated.

TREATMENT PROTOCOL

1. Patients with mild infection: Can be discharged 10 days after onset of symptoms if no fever or any other symptoms for last three days before discharge. The patient should maintain saturation of above 95% for the last four consecutive days (without oxygen support)
2. For moderate infection: Apart from the above criteria, there should be resolution of breathlessness and other clinical symptoms (based on report of investigations)
3. Severe infection and immuno-compromised patients: Discharge will depend on complete clinical recovery

The circular said that inflammatory markers (S. Ferritin, S.LDH, D-Dimer and CRP) should be normal or on a decreasing trend during a repeat test at the time of discharge for all patients.

At the time of discharge, the patient should be advised home quarantine and self-monitoring of health for seven days. The District Surveillance Officer should follow up with the patients at home. A repeat RT-PCR test should be done on the sixth day of discharge. If the report is negative, the patient can end home quarantine.

NO NEW GUIDELINES YET FOR CHRISTMAS

BENGALURU: BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta on Friday said that so far, no new guidelines have been issued to churches for Christmas celebrations. The guidelines which were issued earlier will hold good. Gupta told the media that the state and central governments are yet to put out final guidelines. People must avoid gatherings and closed spaces, wear masks and get vaccinated. In the meantime, testing has been intensified from the prevailing 30,000 a day to 40,000-45,000 a day, and soon, targeted testing of people will start, he said. Talks are also on with doctors and medical institutions that patients with any symptoms can be tested, as there are many reasons leading people to contract Covid-19. Guidelines on this would be issued soon. Citizens who have symptoms should go in for testing, Gupta said. ENS

Bommai keen on holding Cabinet meet in Belagavi

Session to discuss issues pertaining to N K'taka's development: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday said that discussions are on with regard to holding a cabinet meeting in Belagavi during the 10-day winter session of the state legislature, scheduled to be held in Belagavi's Suvarna Vidhana Soudha from December 13. He was speaking to the media at Belagavi airport.

To a question that some of the major issues of North Karnataka were not discussed in the past sessions held in Belagavi, Bommai said, "I expect that some of the important issues pertaining to North Karnataka will certainly be deliberated upon this time around."

He expressed confidence in the BJP performing well in the elections held to 25 Council seats from local bodies' constituencies and said that the trend was in favour of his partymen. Bommai said every election, whether it is to the Assembly, Council or panchayats, was based on a set of different factors and equations.

The CM did not clarify which important Bills are likely to be tabled during the winter session and said the Law Minister will throw light on this. However, sources said that the Anti-Conversion Bill and the APMC Bill are expected to be introduced at the fag end of the session even if they are not on the list of Bills to be presented in the legislature before the start of the session.

Several leaders and organisations from North Karnataka are expecting the government to take some important decisions for the development of North Karnataka in the Cabinet meeting planned by Bommai in Belagavi. The shifting of several important offices from Bengaluru to Suvarna Vidhana Soudha has been a major demand of people of North Karnataka.

Several forums, particularly farmers' organisations from different parts of North Karnataka, will be staging protests during the session urging the government to fulfill their demands, besides adding pace to the process of development of North Karnataka by holding legislature sessions in Belagavi every December.

Congress to oppose Anti-Conversion Bill

BENGALURU: As the State Government is said to be considering bringing a Bill against forced religious conversions in Karnataka during the winter session beginning on Monday, the opposition Congress is all set to oppose any such move. KPCC president DK Shivakumar said the Congress will oppose the Bill as it targets a particular community. The Kanakapura MLA said that the BJP government should not attempt such misadventures as it is not right to hurt sentiments of any community. Many BJP leaders, including Home Minister Araga Jnanendra, had stated that such a law is required to prevent forced religious conversions. ENS

CM Basavaraj Bommai comes out of a polling booth in Shiggaon on Friday

THE elections to the Legislative Council seat from the Bengaluru Urban constituency, which was in the spotlight for several reasons, recorded 99.86 per cent polling with 2,070 of the 2,073 voters exercising their franchise on Friday. As many as 15 members nominated to the town municipalities of Anekal, Mahadevapura and Attibele also exercised their franchise, but the Election Commission had placed a separate ballot box for them in compliance with a Karnataka High Court order.

Congress candidate Yousuf Sharief had moved the court questioning the voting rights of nominated members. The HC, which will hear the case again on Monday, is expected to pronounce its order on whether the votes of nominated members can be taken up for counting, which is scheduled to be held on December 14.

The court's decision will have its ramification across India on the issue of voting rights for nominated members, observed former Karnataka Advocate General Prof Ravivarma Kumar, who is the counsel for Yousuf in the case.

KPCC president D K Shivakumar had also written to the Election Commission of India in this regard. The Congress party's apprehension is that nominated members apparently vote in favour of the candidate fielded by the ruling dispensation.

Meanwhile, members nominated to urban local bodies across the state exercised their franchise as there were no objections from rival parties. The Bengaluru Urban seat was under close watch ever since the Congress announced the candidature of Yousuf Sharief, who had declared assets worth Rs 1,744 crore in his affidavit. For violating the Model Code of Conduct by allegedly luring the electorate with inducements, an FIR was filed against him on November 30. Another complaint was filed on December 9 over publication of an advertisement without prior permission of the Election Commission, which is mandatory. The BJP candidate Gopinath Reddy had declared assets worth Rs 34 crore and the likes of CM Basavaraj Bommai and Union minister Anekal Narayaswamy had campaigned for him.

Video of ballot paper goes viral

Hassan: A video of a ballot paper cast in favour of JDS candidate Suraj Revanna went viral on social media on Friday. Sources said that a voter carried his cell phone into the polling booth and and took a photograph of his vote, which went viral. Congress leaders have demanded that the Election Commission hold repoll as many voters and JDS leaders entered polling stations with cell phones and exercised their franchise though carrying phones inside booths is prohibited. However, JDS leaders have dismissed the allegations. The DC said suitable action will be taken against the guilty if any complaints are received.

MLA flashing seer's pic to be probed

Belagavi: DC Venkatesh Kumar on Friday said the assistant commissioner has been instructed to conduct an inquiry into Belagavi Rural MLA Laxmi Hebbalkar showing the picture of a seer at a polling station. This amounts to violation of the election protocols and based on the report, further action will be taken he said.On Friday, the MLA had shown a picture of the Rambhapuri mutt seer on her mobile phone to the media before entering the polling booth.

Fully-vaxxed certificate must for session

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

With Karnataka reporting an increase in Covid-19 clusters and the scare of the Omicron variant looming large, the State Government has made it mandatory for all those attending the 10-day winter session of the state legislature at Belagavi's Suvarna Vidhana Soudha from December 13 to produce RT-PCR negative report not older than 72 hours along with fully-vaccinated certificate before entering the venue. The session will begin at 10.30 am on December 13. "Every guest, including legislators, officials, media persons and all others entering the venue have to produce an RT-PCR negative report only once. The guests need not have to go for repeated RT-PCR tests," DC Venkateshkumar told TNIE. Health authorities are expected to make separate arrangements for RT-PCR tests for those eligible to attend the session.

Venkateshkumar held a meeting of officials in Belagavi to review the arrangements for accommodation, travel, and boarding made for guests arriving to take part in the session. Several hoteliers also attended the meeting to update the DC on the Covid guidelines in place in their establishments.

The DC said authorities will take measures to ensure that the protocols are followed strictly during the session by providing the required vehicles to ministers, elected representatives, and officials of the Secretariat. Separate WhatsApp groups have been created involving ministers, top officers and their PROs to provide information on facilities provided during the session.

Election panel moves HC against order on nominated members' votes

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Election Commission of India has moved the Karnataka High Court questioning an interim order passed by a single-judge bench not to announce the results of the Council elections from the Bengaluru Urban local bodies without prior permission of the court when the voting rights of 15 nominated members of the local bodies is pending consideration.

Permitting Friday's elections from the Bengaluru Urban local bodies constituency, on the petition filed Congress candidate Yusuf Sharif and others, the single-judge bench had issued a rider that the votes of the 15 nominated members of the Bommasandra, Attibele and Anekal town municipal councils should be placed in a sealed cover and that the results should not be declared without the leave of the court. A separate ballot box should be kept for polling and the votes should be kept in a sealed cover, the judge had ordered.

When the ECI's petition was taken up on Friday, a division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum said it will be taken up on December 13, a day before counting of votes.

The petitioners have contended that the members nominated under Article 243, who had no right to vote in the meetings of the municipal council, could not be voting in Council election and therefore, permitting them to vote in the elections is against the Constitution, they contended.

'Act against derogatory posts on Gen Rawat'

ENS @ Hubballi

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has instructed the State police chief to initiate legal action against those who posted derogatory remarks on social media, celebrating the demise of Chief of Defence Staff General Bipin Rawat in a chopper crash in Tamil Nadu.

Bommai told reporters at Shiggaon that every Indian should strongly condemn this act of perverted minds against the man who led the armed forces to defend the country. "This perversion cannot be tolerated. They should be punished. The culprits who posted such perverted, derogatory posts will be traced and legal action will be taken against them," he said.

Bommai also said he visited Command Hospital in Bengaluru where IAF Group Captain Varun Singh, the lone survivor in the crash, is being treated. "I pray for his speedy recovery. The best possible treatment is being given to him," he said.

Ready to sacrifice my seat for Siddu, says ex-minister

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

WITH former minister B B Chimmanakatti openly criticising Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah's decision to contest the 2023 Assembly election from Badami, another former minister, Puttaranga Shetty, who is MLA from Chamarajanagar, has offered to give up his seat if the former CM wishes to contest from there.

Puttaranga Shetty, who was minister for Backward Classes in the Congress-JDS coalition government and a three-time MLA from Chamarajanagar, has decided to reach out to Siddaramaiah in this regard so that the latter does not have to hunt for a constituency.

Although, Chamarajpet MLA Zameer Ahmed Khan has on many occasions in the past said that he was ready to give up his seat for Siddaramaiah to contest in 2023, the latter has clarified that he will contest from Badami. Sources close to Siddaramaiah also revealed that there are plans to prevail upon him to contest from Kolar or Malur -- constituencies with high number of Dalit, Kuruba, Minorities and Backward Classes voters — or from Hebbal in Bengaluru without harming the political career of his son Yathindra, who is Varuna MLA. MLA Byrathi Suresh has also invited Siddaramaiah to contest from Hebbal.

Meanwhile, there are demands from several quarters for Siddaramaiah to contest from Chamundeshwari in Mysuru district. In 2018, Siddaramaiah lost to G T Devegowda of the JDS. But now, Devegowda has hinted that he will join the Congress at an appropriate time. But, Siddaramaiah is playing his cards close to his chest.

A few Congress leaders feel that Siddaramaiah contesting from Chamarajanagar will also help contain the emergence of BJP. In 2018, the BJP won Gundlupet and managed to wrest the Lok Sabha seat from Congress in 2019. A Congress leader felt that Chamarajanagar seat may not be a priority for Siddaramaiah and the Congress as Puttaranga Shetty is the lone Uppara community MLA from the Congress and there is no other seat where a party candidate from the community can win despite their sizeable population.

BJP SURE OF WINNING AT LEAST 15 SEATS

BELAGAVI was at the top with 99.98% turnout, Bengaluru Rural recorded 99.9%, Bengaluru Urban 99.86% and Kolar 99.96%. The total number of voters is 99,062.

Though the results will not have any bearing on the stability of the BJP government, they can significantly alter the equation in the Council. At present, the BJP is the single largest party with 32 seats, Congress 29 seats and JDS 12. Top BJP leaders, including CM Bommai, former CM BS Yediyurappa and ministers, went all guns blazing as the party is keen to win at least 13 seats to retain the majority in the Council. With that, the saffron party will not have to depend on JDS to pass the bills. The party had earlier found it difficult to get the anti-cow slaughter bill, and it also had to compromise on the Council Chairman's post.

A health worker checks the temperature of a GP member outside a polling station at Sulikere in Bengaluru | VINOD KUMAR T

"We are confident of winning 15 seats and getting a clear majority," BJP state general secretary and MLC N Ravi Kumar said. Congress hopes to retain 14 seats it had won in 2015. "During campaigning, we raised several important issues, including price rise," said KPCC working president and party candidate from Dharwad local body constituency, Saleem Ahmed. Hoping to maintain the momentum it gained after winning the Hanagal bypoll, the party deployed senior leaders, including former CM Siddaramaiah and state Congress president DK Shivakumar, to campaign extensively.

Both BJP and Congress have played it safe by deciding to field single candidates even in the five dual candidate seats to avoid a split in its votes. JDS has confined itself to six seats and is fighting to retain its hold in the Old Mysuru region.

Govt tweaks scholarship scheme for kids of farmers

BENGALURU: The State Government has amended the rules on providing education scholarships to children of farmers. With the changes, children of farmers can avail the 'Mukhyamantri Raitha Vidya Nidhi Scholarship' even if they are getting other scholarships. As per the order issued on Friday, based on the data available with the various departments, the government will identify students eligible for the Mukhyamantri Raitha Vidya Nidhi Scholarship and provide them with financial assistance for higher education. Applications submitted by students will also be considered for the scholarship in which money will be transferred directly to their bank accounts. For the purpose of the scheme, a farmers' family means a family registered with the e-governance department's 'kutumba' app, the order stated. The Mukhyamantri Raitha Vidya Nidhi Scholarship was announced by Bommai soon after he took over as CM, to help farmers' children pursue higher education. He had announced that Rs 1,000 crore will be set aside for this scheme.

JDS MLC takes swipe at Sa Ra Mahesh

ENS @ Mysuru

BRUSHING aside talk that he was denied a ticket by the party, disgruntled JDS MLC Sandesh Nagaraj on Friday claimed that party patriarch H D Deve Gowda and son Revanna had, in fact, come to his doorstep to give him the B form to file nomination.

Stressing that the first family had insulted him, he said that the father-son duo had reached out to him with the B form knowing fully well that the JDS candidate may lose. However, things changed as the 'maharaja' in the party opposed it, he stressed, without naming Sa Ra Mahesh. "We have a maharaja who wants to be the sole leader," he remarked.

Nagaraj said that his tenure will end on January 5 and hinted that a new chapter in his political career will start after that.

State govt to follow post-based classification in recruitment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE State Government, in an order issued on Friday, has said that it will go with post-based classification while recruiting civil servants and thereby put an end to the vacancy-based classification. This means that if there is any direct recruitment or promotion in any cadre, then the classification to fill the vacancy will be done as per post-based criteria.

The posts that fall vacant upon retirement, resignation and untimely death of a civil servant cannot be filled by direct recruitment, and instead, will be filled through promotion. And, if a post held by a direct recruit falls vacant, it must be filled through direct recruitment only.

The order further states that by December 31 every year, a preliminary seniority list of the civil servants should be prepared. After inviting objections for the same, a final list should be ready by March 31 in the upcoming year. This will improve the chances of the government employees getting promotion by 25 to 30 per cent, it noted.

"The government's decision will do away with the imbalance in the classification of posts based on vacancies for direct recruitment and promotions. With the announcement of a seniority list every year, it will also prevent administrative hiccups", remarked Karnataka State Government Employees's Association president C S Shadakshari, while welcoming the order.

"Vacancy-based classification has been found causing injustice to promotees. Hence, there was a long-pending demand from the Association to consider it. The government has responded to it positively. The post-based classification leads to rational classification of vacancies and provides justice to both direct recruits and promotees", remarked Narasimharaju, an office-bearer.

As regards the Karnataka Administrative Service cadre, a separate Government Order was issued in 2016 to consider classification of posts of that cadre as per post-based criteria. Later, direct recruits of KAS cadre had questioned the decision of the government before the KSAT tribunal and the case is pending.

The government's decision to consider the post-based classification criteria for all cadres may have its bearing on the decision, observed a KAS officer.

HC tells Escoms to clear bills on time

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed all Escoms (electricity supply companies) and the state government to honour and discharge their obligations and liabilities under the Power Purchase Agreements (PPAs), including making payment of outstanding dues to power generators without delay, and to continue to make timely and prompt payments henceforth.

"All Escoms are also directed to forthwith open / renew monthly irrevocable letters of credit in terms of the PPAs in favour of power generators for the purpose of enabling and ensuring payments of all amounts due to power generators from the Escoms," Justice SR Krishna Kumar said. A batch of petitions was filed by Renew Power Private Limited and other renewable energy generating companies, against the energy department, Escoms and state government. Directing Escoms to pay and clear all outstanding dues payable to the petitioners in relation to all the bills, the court asked the Registry to send a copy of the order to the Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission.

"It cannot also be gainsaid that Escoms collect and receive monies from consumers for the supply of energy generated by the petitioners and other power generating companies. It is, therefore, in public interest and in the interest of preserving energy reforms that necessary directions are to be issued to Escoms to abide by the terms of PPAs," the court observed.

Meanwhile, counsel of the Escoms submitted that huge amounts due to the Escoms have not been paid by rural local bodies, urban local bodies, state government and also subsidy dues from farmers. This has resulted in the Escoms not being in a position to pay dues on time, he said.

HC permits opening of Mantri Mall on tax payment

Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court on Friday permitted the Abhishek Propbuild Pvt Ltd to open Mantri Mall in the city, subject to payment of Rs 2 crore by the end of the day. The mall premises were locked by BBMP for default in payment of property tax. Hearing a petition filed by the Abhishek Propbuild Pvt Ltd and Hamara Shelters Pvt Ltd, promoters of the mall, against the action by the BBMP, the court passed the interim order. "Since the day has now come to an end, and Saturday and Sunday being bank holidays, the counsel of the petitioners should submit that he would deposit a cheque for Rs 4 crore with the BBMP before the end of the day and replace it with a demand draft of Rs 2 crore before 12 noon on Monday. The counsel for the BBMP placed on record documents with regard to all submissions that he has made, that the demand of tax has been communicated to the petitioners year on year and the petitioners have been in default of payment," the court noted the arguments of the parties while adjourning the hearing to December 13, 2021. ENS

Peddlers hide drugs in public, customers pick them up later

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

SLEUTHS of the Central Crime Branch (CCB), who had arrested five youths on charges of drug peddling in Madivala recently, have found that the accused placed drugs in public places and shared the location with the buyer, who picked up the contraband later.

The police had arrested Pranav V M, Shyamdas, Anubhav Raveendran KK, Shamil Y and Mohammed Sakariya, and had seized MDMA and ganja worth around Rs 10 lakh.

Sources said the gang was selling the contraband to their customers without coming in direct contact with them. "As the police are cracking down on drug peddlers, the gang had planned to evade detection and arrest. They interacted with their customers only over phone and took orders. They would keep the drugs in a public place as no one would suspect that there could be drugs," an officer said.

"They would choose a tree or a bench in a park and keep the drugs. They clicked the photos and shared them with the customer. They also shared the location where the drugs were dropped. On receiving the message, the customer would go to the spot and pick up the contraband. In this way they avoided suspicion," the officer said.

Students bully Hindi teacher at govt school, lead to outrage

G SUBHASH CHANDRA
@Davanagere

A video of five students of the Government High School in Nallur, Channagiri taluk of Davangere district, misbehaving with their Hindi teacher went viral on Friday.

The incident, which occurred last Monday, was on all social media platforms since Thursday, leading to outrage against the five students. The public is now demanding strict action against these students.

According to the school authorities, the teacher Prakash, who recently moved from Haveri district, was holding the class when one of the students tried to hit him with a dustbin, and then put the bin on his head. Prakash had reprimanded the students who were consuming gutka and littering the classroom, and told them to maintain discipline, when they started misbehaving.

Prakash told TNIE that some of the students consume gutkha, and when I advised them to maintain the sanctity of the classrooms, they quarrelled with me and put the basket on me. I took it lightly and continued my classes. The students also came to classes regularly.

However, on Thursday when the incident went viral, the students were absent. Fearing trouble, I decided not to lodge a complaint even after the arrival of the MLA and DDPI, Prakash said.

MLA Madal Virupakshappa and DDPI Thippeswamy rushed to the school and interacted with the staff. They decided to take in writing from the students they would not indulge in such activities in future, and keeping in mind their future careers, teachers decided not to lodge a police complaint.

Amid this, the villagers have demanded strict action against these students so that it would be a lesson for others. Deputy Commissioner Mahantesh Bilagi said he would collect a report from the DDPI and take action based on that.

Jaya's heirs get keys to her house

Niece, nephew visit former TN CM's Poes Garden residence after Madras High Court order

SINDUJA JANE @ Chennai

AFTER entering Veda Nilayam on Friday, an emotional J Deepa, niece of former chief minster J Jayalalithaa, claimed the house had changed since her last visit to the house nearly 12 years ago.

Deepa and her brother J Deepak visited their aunt's home in the posh Poes Garden locality after receiving its keys from Chennai District Collector J Vijaya Rani. The Madras High Court recently ordered the State to hand over the keys to the siblings. The court had also recently granted the Income Tax department two weeks to bring on record the names of the siblings, as Jaya's legal heirs, in the tax arrears case pending against the leader.

JJ Deepa waves to the media after taking possession of 'Veda Nilayam' in Chennai on Friday | P JAWAHAR

> Words fail us in expressing our feelings. There were voices that said I should not step into that house. Now, after a long battle, I have received that right
>
> J Deepa, niece of former chief minster J Jayalalithaa

"For the first time, I am entering the house without her there. I really feel bad," Deepa told reporters after spending nearly four hours at the residence. Claiming she knew her aunt had very good taste in interior design, Deeepa said the aesthetic appearance of the house was lost. Jaya's room seemed to have shrunk in size and many things were missing. "I wondered how my aunt lived in such a small house," she said, claiming the residence is not fit for living

"Words fail us in expressing our feelings. There were voices that said I should not step into that house. Now, after a long battle, I have received that right. As of now, we are going to occupy the house and we will do the maintenance work," Deepa said.

Deepa said she has many memories of the house, having spent most of her childhood there. "But many photos of my aunt are not there. Even photos of her pets are missing," she said. In Jaya's office, there used be a large table, and the room was quite big. "But everything seems to have changed now," Deepa added.

The late CM had to pay ₹16.75 crore as arrears of income tax for the period from the assessment year of 1990-91 to 2011-12 and the period between 2005-06 and 2011-12. In November 2017, IT officials searched two rooms at Veda Nilayam and seized electronic gadgets, including laptop, desktop and storage devices. A prohibitory order was imposed on the two rooms. It was withdrawn in January 2018.

Pinarayi asks IUML to decide its role in politics

> Who gave it the right to represent the entire Muslim community? The government is neither adamant nor has a special interest in the issue. Other Muslim bodies, including the Samastha and Kanthapuram group, are convinced about our intentions
>
> Kerala CM Pinarayi Vijayan

Kannur: Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan was at his acerbic best in the last 15 minutes of his 90-minute inaugural speech delivered at the Kannur district conference of the CPM on Friday, taking on the Indian Union Muslim League (IUML) which has been up in arms against the government's move to entrust the Waqf Board appointments with the Public Service Commission (PSC).

"Muslim League should first decide whether it is a political party or a religious organisation," Pinarayi said. "Who gave it the right to represent the entire Muslim community? The government is neither adamant nor has a special interest in the issue. Other Muslim bodies, including the Samastha and Kanthapuram group, are convinced about our intentions. Only the League isn't. Who wants its consent?" he said. At the start of his one-and-half hour speech, Pinarayi touched on several subjects, including capitalism, class struggle, threats against secularism, corporatisation of the BJP-led NDA government at the Centre, collapse of public sector and a weakening Congress. When it started seeming like a lecture, the CM switched gears.

Air Marshal Singh apt choice to head crash probe, says expert

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

MILITARY aviation experts have backed the selection of Air Marshal Manavendra Singh, Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief (AOC-in-C), Training Command, Bengaluru, as head of the tri-services inquiry into the fatal Mi17V5 helicopter crash that killed former Chief of Defence Staff General Bipin Rawat and 12 others near Conoor in Tamil Nadu on Wednesday.

"He (Singh) is a helicopter pilot and is the right choice to probe the unfortunate Mi17V5 helicopter crash," said Air Marshal Philip Rajkumar (Retd), who had headed the Court of Inquiry into the Boeing 737-248 crash in Patna in 2000 that had claimed 60 lives.

Air Marshal Rajkumar said the Court of Inquiry into fatal air crashes looks into sabotage, security, technical issues, weather, pilot error, crew competence and autopsy reports among others.

"Every aspect is looked into. The investigation can also necessitate taking the parts of the crashed helicopter to the manufacturer. The Court of Inquiry can send the recovered parts of the helicopter to any defence establishment -- Hindustan Aeronautic Ltd (HAL), Defence Research & Development Organisation (DRDO), National Aerospace Laboratories (NAL), or any agency overseas for forensic investigation. They have recovered the flight data recorder and voice data recorder, which will be very useful for investigation. They can reconstruct the flight path of the helicopter using data recorder and simulate the profile," said the veteran IAF officer. The Mi-17 is a Soviet designed Russian military helicopter family in production at two factories in Kazan and Ulan-Ude. Giving details about the Boeing 737 crash, the retired officer said he had taken some of the parts of crashed aircraft to the Boeing factory in Seattle, USA. "We then went to the Boeing manufacturer in Irvine, California, and Parker-Hannifin Corporation which makes hydraulic actuators, which are used in flight control systems." said Rajkumar.

CM, Governor inquire about Singh's health

COMMAND Hospital has Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy (HBOT) chamber, which is used to breathe in pure oxygen in air pressure levels 1.5 to 3 times higher than average. HBOT is used for speeding up healing of carbon monoxide poisoning, gangrene, stubborn wounds and infections in which tissues are starved for oxygen and restore normal body functions.

A team of doctors including intensivists and plastic surgeons is attending on Singh, who has reportedly suffered 85 per cent burns besides other physical injuries, sources said.

Meanwhile, Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday visited the Hospital and enquired about the IAF officer's health.

Techie ends life over husband's torture

Bengaluru: A 26-year-old woman ended her life by suicide at her husband's house in Amruthahalli on Friday. The police arrested her husband on charges of abetment to sucide soon after the incident came to light. The deceased is Sangeeta, wife of Vinay Kumar. The couple married four years ago and the duo were working as software engineers in a private company. They are residents of Veeranapalya. A senior police officer said that Sangeeta committed suicide by hanging late at night. Kumar found her hanging and alerted the police. No suicide note was left by Sangeetha. The police suspect a family dispute. ENS

Cops book 2 in history-sheeter list

Bengaluru: Yelahanka New Town police have booked two accused under a history sheeter list after they allegedly attacked policemen in a road rage incident. The incident was reported two days ago and a video clip of the attack went viral on social media. A senior police officer said Deeraj and Manoj had slapped a police sub-inspector and a constable. On Wednesday night, Sub-inspector Srishaila and constable Aslam were on patrol when their two-wheeler brushed against the duo's oncoming car in a narrow lane. ENS

Ample evidence on urbanisation affecting mental health, says doc

ACCORDING to the National Mental Health Survey of India 2015-16, the prevalence of any mental morbidity at any given point was 13.1 per cent in urban metros, 9.3 per cent in urban non-metros and 9.2 per cent in rural areas.

"However, the Covid pandemic with its disastrous effect across cities of India has brought to the forefront the mental health concerns/issues of city dwellers."

"With the current rate of urbanisation and with ample evidence that urbanisation affects mental health, there is an immediate need to address mental health in cities of India," said Prathima Murthy who was accompanied by the former head of Department of Epidemiology, Centre for Public Health, Dr Gururaj and visiting professor at NIMHANS Dr Mohan Isaac.

The Department of Epidemiology, Centre for Public Health, in collaboration with the Community Psychiatry Unit and Telemedicine Centre, Department of Psychiatry, NIMHANS, is also conducting a national-level symposium on urban mental health -- 'Cities and Mental Health: Covid pandemic unfolded mental health crisis in cities of India today'.

On the occasion, NIMHANS, supported by the Biocon Foundation, released BUMHI module, which aims to provide individuals with adequate skills regarding mental health first-aid through the development and implementation of mental health self-care and informal care programmes in the community. The knowledge and skillsets required for strengthening mental health self-care and informal care in the community, identified under the Bengaluru Mental Health Initiative (BUMHI) project include self-knowledge, conscientiousness and spirituality, accountability, emotions, stress management, empathy, communication, assertiveness and goal setting. In his presentation on how urban living affects mental health, Dr Gururaj said that cities are associated with acute as well as prolonged exposure to stressors, which are closely linked to urban environment. These stressors influence brain functioning ranging from neurodevelopmental at foetal stage to structural and functional alterations throughout life in response to environmental exposures.

"Urban life influencers and stress builders include disintegration of traditional family structure, social isolation, work-life balance, financial stress, work and housing insecurity and increased risk of substance abuse and addiction among youth," he shared.

20K STUDENTS TO UNDERGO SKILLING, COUNSELLING

Bengaluru: The Department of Youth Empowerment & Sports is coordinating with SAP Labs and Indian and United Nation's Development Programme (UNDP) to train 20,000 students in 50 colleges in the state on career guidance, through psychometric assessment and counselling. It will be followed by digital skills wherein 200 hours of the module will be delivered. Fifty colleges, including Government Pre-University, ITIs, Polytechnics and Arts & Science colleges have been identified to work with the faculty and student communities. At the outset, the programme will be implemented in four districts -- Bengaluru Rural, Ramanagara, Dakshina Kannada and Raichur. This is part of a state-level initiative called 'Code-Unnati', rolled out to improve entrepreneurship and employment opportunities. A LoU (Letter of Understanding) was signed between UNDP and Department of Youth Empowerment & Sports on Friday as part of 'Code-Unnati'. ENS

DEEPENING UPI AND ENSURING PARITY IN DIGITAL PAYMENT

The RBI will soon allow digital payments for feature phone users and without internet access. This is an intelligent move to further deepen UPI transactions, which is already the high king of digital payments. Since its launch in April 2016, UPI has emerged as the single-largest retail payments platform in terms of volume, led by small-ticket transactions of less than ₹200. Extending UPI to feature phone users, who constitute a significant number, isn't surprising given its rising dominance with 14 crore transactions per day, closing in on the $1 trillion mark in value.

Taking a logical step to increase digital penetration of financial services, RBI raised the cap for retail subscribers applying for G-secs and IPOs through UPI from ₹2 lakh to ₹5 lakh. Currently 50% of all retail IPO subscriptions happen through UPI. While the recent Retail Direct Scheme allowing customers to buy government bonds directly from the RBI is still in the natal ward, it is expected to pick up pace. However, analysts believe the increased cap may not be a gamechanger until SEBI norms capping retail subscriptions for IPOs at ₹2 lakh currently are tweaked.

While the above measures are good, the underlying issue is charges on all digital transactions for which the central bank has proposed a discussion paper, which will be out next month. UPI falls under the government's zero merchant discount rate policy, where merchants aren't levied extra charges, and service providers earn no revenue. In contrast, credit card transactions incur a cost not for customers but merchants, who often refuse card payments to avoid the levies. Then there are prepaid payment instruments and wallet companies like Paytm who charge customers, and the costs are uneven. Clearly, we need parity to ensure that digital payment modes are reasonable and affordable but at the same time, remain 'economically remunerative' to service providers to avoid a revenue dent. But it's also essential to balance the interests of consumers, as charging UPI transactions will only disincentivise its usage.

THE WAY KOHLI WAS SACKED IS BIZARRE

The functioning of the Indian cricket board is always intriguing. Of late, it has become opaque with less interaction between the BCCI officials and media. It was not at all surprising when the board removed Virat Kohli as the ODI captain on Wednesday and named Rohit Sharma as his replacement. At 34, whether Sharma is an ideal replacement is debatable, but the concern here is the manner in which Kohli was sacked. A footnote along with the announcement of the team for South Africa was enough to remove an ODI skipper with more than 70% win record. This has an eerie resemblance to the sacking of current board president, Sourav Ganguly, when he was captain and Greg Chappell was the coach back in 2005. There is no doubt that Kohli's captaincy in ODIs was untenable as soon as he relinquished the T20I captaincy in early November. There was pressure on Kohli but he reportedly wanted to continue till at least the 2023 World Cup.

Yes, Kohli may not have won an ICC trophy but the records do speak in his favour. Unlike in T20Is, Kohli has a staggering record in ODIs as captain. He has led India in 95 matches, won 65 and lost 27 (one was tied and there were two no-results). The win percentage of 70.43% is among the best in the world. There was outrage among experts not because he was removed but the way it was done. It trivialises the contribution of one of India's most successful cricketers—both in terms of scoring runs and leading the team. He definitely deserved better.

What seemed baffling was that the Twitter handle of the board too recognised Kohli's contribution as captain only a day or two later. The outrage forced BCCI president Ganguly to clarify on Thursday. He said he had spoken to Kohli and told him about the road ahead. Ganguly also clarified that more than one captain for limited overs cricket would lead to confusion and the board thought it prudent to have one for the white ball versions and one for Tests. All this could have been avoided had the BCCI been more transparent and handled communication with the media better.

An iron-fisted response leaves little space for understanding the underlying causes of an insurgency and can lead to tragedies such as the one witnessed in Nagaland

THE PERILS OF A MILITARISTIC APPROACH

AMIT BANDRE

H KHOGEN SINGH
Resident Editor, New Delhi, The New Indian Express

By all accounts, the tears have dried up, the fury has ebbed and the remote hills of Mon, Nagaland, have turned somnolent again. The families of the 15 people who died in a botched operation by an Army special forces unit and the ensuing violence have been promised compensation. The Nagaland government has also ordered a probe by a special investigating team that is mandated to submit its report within a month. Significantly, the Nagaland Cabinet has decided to support the demands of the influential Konyak Union, an apex body of the Konyak tribe that mainly inhabits Mon. The Konyak Union has demanded that the Army men be booked and punished "under applicable civil court".

But there is doubt over this as the Army has also instituted a court of inquiry, reportedly headed by a Major General. If the Army decides to try the case, it prevents any police jurisdiction and a trial by a civil court appears remote, especially as military officials enjoy protective cover from prosecution because of the Armed Forces Special Powers Act. The Machil encounter in Jammu and Kashmir in 2010 is a case in point. Three porters were taken to an Army camp near the Line of Control and killed. After the police chargesheeted 11 Army personnel, including the battalion's commanding officer and two majors, the case went to the High Court, which ordered an Army trial and this ended the police jurisdiction over the case. Although six Army men were found guilty and given life sentences, an armed forces tribunal later suspended the sentence, allowing the convicts to walk free and robbing the families of the porters of justice.

The Pathribal case of 2000 followed almost the same path. The Army's Rashtriya Rifles claimed to have killed five foreign militants responsible for the Chittisinghpora massacre in which 36 Sikhs were gunned down by militants. The five later turned out to be innocent locals. After a long trial, the CBI chargesheeted five Army men, who challenged it in the courts. The Supreme Court upheld the challenge and the Army was allowed to hold its own trial. Although the Nagaland police have filed an FIR in Mon, it appears to be following the Machil and Pathribal trajectories as a parallel probe by the Army is likely to preclude a civil trial as demanded by the Konyak Union.

While the results of the SIT and Army probes will be keenly awaited, it is illustrative to note the change in mindset that has shaped the government's responses to insurgency and armed groups over the years. Introducing the Armed Forces Special Powers Bill in Parliament in 1958, then Union home minister Govind Ballabh Pant told the Lok Sabha that "certain misguided sections of the Nagas" were involved in "arson, murder, loot, dacoity, etc.". He said in view of these incidents, it had become necessary "to adopt effective measures for the protection of the people". Implicit in this statement was that those who had picked up the gun in the Naga hills to launch India's longest running armed movement had been misled, could be reformed and shown the right path as these men were our own.

But in sharp contrast to Pant's accommodative approach, a strong militarism seems to form the foundational base of today's response to insurgency and militancy. An eye for an eye or a bullet for a bullet appears to be the guiding principle in the troubled regions with immense faith in the power of the gun to eliminate the scourge of armed rebellions. Such an approach was illustrated in the Centre's stand before the Supreme Court in 2016 in a PIL filed by the Extra Judicial Execution Victim Families Association alleging 1,528 fake encounter deaths in Manipur in the last decade. While Pant had described the Naga insurgents as "misguided", the Centre in written submissions and affidavits told the top court during the hearing of the Manipur PIL that "militants, terrorists or insurgents" were "enemies" of the state who needed to be dealt with as such. Delivering the judgment in the case in 2017, Justices Madan B Lokur and U U Lalit pointed out that the Centre had emphasised during the hearing "that a militant or terrorist or insurgent is an 'enemy' within the definition of the Army Act, 1950, and it is the bounden duty of all Army personnel to act against a militant or a terrorist or an insurgent while he is deployed in a 'disturbed area' under (the) AFSPA... the armed forces are entitled while maintaining public order in a disturbed area to cause the death of an enemy." The judges also noted that according to the Centre, an insurrection against the government is a "form of war" that needed an iron-fisted response.

> In sharp contrast to former Union home minister Govind Ballabh Pant's accommodative approach, an eye for an eye appears to now be the guiding principle in troubled regions with immense faith in the power of the gun

This militaristic approach to dealing with insurgents and armed groups leaves little space for understanding the underlying causes of an armed struggle. On the contrary, such a strategy has the potential to feed reckless misadventures such as the one witnessed in Mon. Unfortunately, this militarism has a strong support structure in today's pervasive milieu of hyper-nationalism and exhibitionist patriotism. This exhibitionism manifests itself in Twitter profiles with a 'India first' proclamation and an emoji of the tricolour. Any patriotic deviance invites a backlash from nationalistic stormtroopers who are ready to consign the offenders to the depths of the Arabian Sea. The need is to lower the nationalistic rhetoric and view insurgency and its byproducts in perspective. The Mon incident has predictably renewed calls for the AFSPA's repeal. The law's defenders point to the 1998 Supreme Court judgment, which upheld its constitutionality and legality. But the top court did not go into the desirability and the merit of the law, an aspect the Justice B P Jeevan Reddy committee stressed while recommending its scrapping.

WHICH WAY WILL THE OMICRON VARIANT GO?

DR M S SESHADRI
Medical Director, Thirumalai Mission Hospital, Ranipet

DR T JACOB JOHN
Former Professor of Clinical Virology, CMC, Vellore

India had entered the endemic phase of Covid-19 from June end/early July, and for the last 22 weeks the reported daily cases have been steadily coming down. As a result, states have started relaxing curbs on gatherings and reopening educational institutions. Also, the pace of vaccination has picked up and as of December 8 this year, 58% of the entire population has been administered one dose and 35% has been double jabbed.

It looked like we were out of the woods when Omicron, with a large number of mutations (more than 30) in the spike protein gene and three times the infective potential of Delta variant, was reported from Gauteng province of South Africa, the epicentre of this outbreak. The seven-day rolling average of the number of new cases in South Africa, which had decreased to less than 300, rose to 4,840 in just two weeks. And on December 2, in a single day, the number of infections went up exponentially to 11,535. In Tshwane district in South Africa, the number of admissions of children under age two increased dramatically to greater than 10% (52 out of 452) of all Covid admissions. The WHO quickly responded by labelling it a variant of concern and at least 57 nations have reported Omicron's presence—mostly in travellers from highly affected countries and to a lesser extent, by community transmission.

There are two features of this outbreak that are alarming. One, a large number of people who were previously afflicted with Covid or completed two-dose vaccination tested positive for the variant, indicating that previous infections and jabs do not fully protect against Omicron. And two, a spate of admissions due to these infections, presumably with the variant, have been reported in South African children.

The major solace is that almost all the reported infections have been mild to moderate with throat irritation and extreme fatigue, and there have been only very few cases of severe disease and death. But we need to wait for the next four weeks to see if hospitalisation from severe disease increases as there is a lag time between infection and serious illness requiring in-patient treatment.

India has already reported 25 confirmed cases of infection with Omicron, mostly in international travellers and one in a medical professional without any travel history. The latter is an instance of community transmission and suggests that the variant is circulating—largely undetected—in India. The observation that many of the travellers into India from January 1 are allegedly not traceable suggests that we could potentially have infected subjects moving around freely. This possibly portends a spate of cases and further community transmission of the variant in the coming weeks.

> In Tshwane district in South Africa, the number of admissions of children under age two increased dramatically to greater than 10% (52 out of 452) of all Covid admissions.... In spite of increased infective potential, Omicron may not cause serious illness. Also, its spread may have a booster effect on immunity against future infections

There are three important steps that need to be immediately pursued in order to tackle this epidemiological emergency. One, educating the public about social vaccine and reinforcing the importance of practicing this effective measure for personal protection. Two, a quick policy decision on administration of a booster dose for the elderly and the vulnerable, and its effective implementation. Three, a fast policy response on Covid vaccination for kids—this requires fast-tracking the extension of emergency use authorisation of vaccines (recommended by the expert panel) found suitable for children.

It is likely that we will see an outbreak with this new variant in India. But judging by the proportion of the population already infected by the Delta variant during the massive wave earlier this year and the number of people who have received at least one dose of the vaccine, even if the documented infections increase, mortality and hospitalisation due to serious disease may be lower than that during the second wave or even the first. However, children under 18 are not yet eligible for vaccination in India. Therefore, there is an urgent need to increase the number of paediatric beds for isolating and treating sick children all over the country, particularly in crowded metros.

There is one more possibility. In live attenuated vaccine production, the cultured virus goes through repeated passages in the laboratory and changes its properties by reducing its virulence; it thereby becomes a live attenuated virus, suitable for use as a vaccine. The coronavirus may have spontaneously become attenuated by prolonged replication in an immunocompromised human subject when the world was in the grip of this pandemic. If this is true, the variant, in spite of increased infective potential, may not cause serious disease. On the other hand, spread of the variant per se may have a booster effect on immunity against future infections by this virus or its close relatives without causing serious disease. In short, the Omicron infection may eventually behave like the common cold virus—the much-awaited attenuated virus in perpetual endemicity.

Outstanding soldier

General Bipin Rawat will be ever remembered as an outstanding soldier who brought laurels to our country through his surgical strikes and proficiency in high-altitude warfare. One of the most decorated Generals, the loss to India due to his death is immeasurable.
Sundaram Govind, Aluva

Mountain wave possibility

The court of inquiry headed by one of the most experienced Air Marshals of the IAF will leave no stone unturned in unearthing all possible causes for the crash. I attentively and repeatedly viewed the video depicting a group of people walking along a rail track and watching the helicopter with surprise and in my view, it provides a clue. The helicopter is seen first getting close to a thick cloud at low altitude. Within a few seconds, there is confirmation amongst the people of having heard a loud noise, indicating a crash. This is the clue a meteorologist should take note of: There is the possibility of a mountain wave with severe downdraft affecting the stability of the aircraft as it entered the cloud patch.

Even in this tragic hour...

The CDS was an upright officer and an asset. The unfortunate deaths are a terrible loss to the country. It is sad that even in this tragic hour, a few people celebrated the deaths.

Nearby residents helped

It was shocking to hear the news of the helicopter crash near Ooty in which 12 defence personnel including India's first Chief of Defence Staff died. That the nearby residents immediately came forward to help and also provided water, bedsheets, etc., is to be appreciated.

Slap on corporation's face

This is with reference to How can civic body decide what people will eat? (Dec 10). The comment by the Gujarat HC is a big slap on the face of the authorities of the Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation. There might be reasons for encouraging vegetarian food but it is not for the civic body to impose such restrictions.
N Rajagopalan, Hyderabad

Guj govt's acquiescence

If certain powers-that-be are out to decide what people should eat, will they also next determine what they must wear? The Gujarat government remaining a mute spectator to the high-handed act of the corporation amounts to acquiescence.

TN arrest and intolerance

This is with reference to YouTuber Maridhas arrested for tweet against government (Dec 10). The arrest is a threat to the open expression of views. Freedom of speech cannot be held to ransom by the government in this manner and it only shows the TN regime's intolerance to opposing views.
S Retnaswamy, Chennai

Poor NEP implementation

The hurried implementation of the National Education Policy 2020 this academic year itself in Karnataka by the BJP government, perhaps to earn bonus points from the Centre, appears to have boomeranged (Dec 9). Not only are the students affected, even the teaching fraternity is finding it difficult due to paucity of staff and infrastructure.

Encourage repair, reuse

This is with reference to Return of the repair economy need of the hour (Dec 7). While developed countries are primarily responsible for the use-and-throw culture, other nations too suffer due to this menace. The main reason for accumulation of waste is the absence of shops and workforce undertaking repair work, non-availability of reliable spares and excessive cost of mending. Manufacturers are only interested in selling their products and making profits. The government must take steps to encourage repairs, recycling and reuse of possible items as far as possible.

Rawat & Lidder cremated; IAF says do not speculate

Shah hails 'epitome of courage' as dignitaries attend last journey

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

ON a day the nation bid farewell to General Bipin Rawat, his wife and Brigadier LS Lidder, the Indian Air Force called for avoiding 'uninformed' speculation on the chopper crash that claimed 13 lives.

General Rawat was cremated with full military honours with a 17-gun salute. After the ytri-services bugles played Last Post and Rouse, the funeral pyre was lit by his two daughters. Gun salute is a formal way to honour a dignitary and it varies as per the individual's position and rank in the hierarchy. A 21-gun salute, the highest, is for heads of state and government. The number decreases with the rank of the recipient.

In the morning, six officers (two each from Army, Navy & Air Force) of the rank equivalent of Lieutenant General were the national flag bearers. Wreaths were laid by dignitaries while the mortal remains were laid at the CDS's official residence at Kamraj Marg.

From his residence to the Brar Square Ceremonial, the battery of 2233 Field Regiment provided a gun carriage. As many as 99 personnel from the Army, Navy and Air Force and 33 members of the tri-services band formed the front escort, while 99 more from all ranks from the three services acted as the rear escort. A total of 800 service personnel were in attendance for the funeral of India's first CDS.

Apart from Home Minister Amit Shah, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and National Security Advisor Ajit Doval, senior military officers from Sri Lanka, Bhutan, Nepal and Bangladesh were present.

"Gen Rawat was the epitome of bravery and courage. It was very unfortunate to lose him so early. His commitment towards the motherland will forever remain in our memories," tweeted Shah.

In a statement, the IAF said the inquiry into the chopper crash would be completed expeditiously and facts will be brought out. "IAF has constituted a tri-service Court of Inquiry to investigate the cause of the tragic helicopter accident. The inquiry would be completed expeditiously. Till then, to respect the dignity of the deceased, uninformed speculation may be avoided," the IAF said in a statement. This came amid speculation by a certain section on the reasons of the crash.

Build capacities, listen to indigenous people to achieve climate resilience: Professor SB Roy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

WHILE India has good acts and policies when it comes to involving the indigenous people in biodiversity conservation, it can't be implemented properly unless it comes with capacity-building support, said Prof SB Roy, Chairman of the Indian Institute of Bio-Social Research and Development (IBRAD). He was in conversation with Supreme Court advocate Sanjay Upadhyay and senior journalist and author Kaveree Bamzai at The New Indian Express' webcast series e-expressions.

Citing an example of tribals learning about organic farming, Roy added, "The various acts and policies should be looked at as complementary to each other and not in isolation. Only then can these acts actually become an important issue of climate resilience. The acts and policies have to be designed in such a way that it is compatible with the local culture so that they adopt it."

EXPRESS expressions FEAR NONE. FAVOUR NONE

We have a lot of rich practices. Are we listening to these indigenous people & their practices. How can these be interwoven into the current framework?
Sanjay Upadhyay

There has to be a reorientation of the bureaucratic process, their ethos and values and also a reorientation of the forest field staff so that they learn the local culture
SB Roy

Replying to a question about how these micro-level achievements of the indigenous people can be taken to a broader scale, Roy said, "There has to be a reorientation of the bureaucratic process, their ethos and values and also a reorientation of the forest field staff so that they learn the local culture. A management plan has to then be prepared based on the local culture, livelihood needs, environmental framework and economic development."

Speaking about how to bring in such a change, Upadhyay said, "We have a lot of rich practices across the board but the trouble is whether we are listening to these indigenous people and their practices enough. How can these practices be interwoven into the current framework? It is possible and all that is required is a will to do that.

"If there's a will to do so then these systems can be integrated into the modern management plans. These systems are very strong tools of conservation, sustainability and climate resilience. Unless we take the practices of the indigenous people into the mainstream framework, we will not succeed."

Answering a question about how to export indigenous practices to the rest of the world as India did with yoga and Ayurveda, Upadhyay said, "These practices need to be discussed at the Prime Minister Office (PMO) and NITI Aayog with demonstrated evidence that this needs to be told to the world. It needs to be a part of mainstream politics. Unless it is brought to the mainstream, the relevance of these practices will not be realised."

Democracy also means with the people, within the people: Modi

New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday said new-age technology like social media and cryptocurrencies should be used to empower democracies. Speaking in a virtual address at the Summit for Democracy hosted by US President Joe Biden, Modi said India would be happy to share its expertise to meet the aspirations of people. "We must jointly shape global norms for emerging technologies like social media and cryptocurrencies so that they are used to empower democracy, not to undermine it," Modi said. Referring to Abraham Lincoln's famous quote, he said, "Democracy is not only of the people, by the people, for the people but also with the people, within the people." He added that structural features like multi-party elections, independent judiciary and free media are important instruments of democracy. "However, the basic strength of democracy is the spirit and ethos that lie within our citizens and our societies," he said. "India would be happy to share its expertise in holding free and fair elections, and in enhancing transparency in all areas of governance." ENS

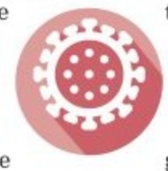
Centre to endorse WHO policy on Covid booster shot

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

ANNOUNCING that India has so far detected 32 cases of Omicron — most of these mild — the government on Friday made clear that the country's policy on booster Covid vaccine doses will be in line with WHO recommendations.

The global health body has so far been vehemently opposing booster doses for the general populations, while endorsing it for those with serious immuno-suppression.

In a briefing on Covid-19 in the country amid the fresh threat posed by the Omicron variant, officials said there are nearly 25-26 districts in the country reporting test positivity rate of 5% or above.



In these districts, there are also nearly 70 clusters of infections, but V K Paul, member (health) Niti Aayog, said evidence so far suggests that they are largely driven by Delta.

Paul also said India's expert panel on immunization has not recommended introducing Covid-19 booster doses yet, adding that the country's policy on this will be aligned with the WHO's. The WHO has been saying that primary vaccination of the majority of the population should be priority before considering booster doses. The statement comes a day after the health ministry informed a parliamentary standing committee that if required, a third dose can be taken, but nine months after the second.

Explaining this, ICMR Director General Balram Bhargava said that data from several countries show that while antibody immunity from the existing vaccines last nearly 6-12 months, cellular and mucosal immunity may last longer. "That's why it may be safe to say that people can take their booster doses nine months after the second," he said.

Meanwhile, a parliamentary panel on home affairs has suggested that the health ministry in coordination with the National Technical Advisory Group on Immunization and the National Expert Group on Vaccine Administration for Covid-19 should assess the requirement of booster doses in India to address the different variants.

Seven new Omicron cases

Maharashtra reported seven new Omicron cases on Friday including a three-and-half-year-old which took the state's tally of such infections to 17, the health department said.

NDA ally seeks relook into decision on N-E palm oil cultivation

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

AFTER raising the demand for repealing the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA), NDA ally National People's Party (NPP) MP Agatha Sangama on Friday asked to reconsider the decision to introduce palm oil cultivation in the North-east. She argued that the scientific community has called for avoiding this step in the region to protect its bio-diversity.

"Because of our unique ecological status, states like Meghalaya cannot afford to have a nature negative industrial growth and we need to attune and reconfigure our economic and social mindset to green our economies. I would like to flag the issue of Palm Oil Mission which was approved by the Cabinet in August, 2021, which is focussing primarily on the North-East and the Andaman & Nicobar Islands," said Sangma, taking part in a discussion on climate change in Lok Sabha.

The MP from Tura Lok Sabha constituency said the Indian Council for Forestry Research and Education had last year recommended introduction of palm oil be avoided in areas rich in biodiversity. "I would request the minister to kindly reconsider this and go into a proper consultation process before heading for this mission in the North-East and in the Andaman & Nicobar Islands where our biodiversity is so rich," added Sangma.

Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla leaves Parliament on Friday | PTI

RSP MP NK Premchandran sought clarification from the government on the term "major economy" introduced during the Glasgow climate meet, which was attended by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

"A new observation has come into the picture. The concept of developed and developing countries is being replaced by major economies. What could be its impact? It means, we are now in the list of the US, UK, European Union, China, and Canada. India is there in this list. These are the major economies. I would like to know whether India will be getting the assistance as per the basic principle previously followed," said Premchandran.

No proposal to scrap sedition law, says Rijiju

New Delhi: The government on Friday said there is no proposal to scrap section 124A of the IPC that deals with sedition. Union Minister for Law and Justice Kiren Rijiju in a written reply in Lok Sabha said there's no proposal before the Ministry of Home Affairs to repeal the section 124A of the IPC (Indian Penal Code). The minister in his reply to MP Badruddin Ajmal stated that the issue of "question of law" with respect to the provision of the IPC is before the Supreme Court. The section provides for jail term upto three years and fine for actions committed which may come under the definition of sedition under the section 124A of the IPC, 1860. While Ajmal claimed the court has termed the sedition law colonial, the minister said the government hasn't come across such observations.

Non-linking no reason for ration card cancellations

New Delhi: Digitization of ration card data and de-duplication process have led to the cancellation of about 4.28 crore bogus ration cards between 2014 and 2021 so far. The government has made clear that non-linking of Aadhaar with ration cards is not a ground for the cancellation of ration cards. The government has asserted that no eligible beneficiary should be denied of food grains under the National Food Security Act. There had been reports from remote parts of the country of poor people not getting food grains because of the Aadhaar issue. Among the reasons for removal of bogus cards, the Ministry of Consumer Affairs said in Parliament that permanent migration, death, identification of ineligible/duplicate/fake ration cards are some reasons for cancellation of cards.

Shortage of GPRA houses irks panel

KUMAR VIKRAM @ New Delhi

A parliamentary standing committee has pulled up the Ministry of Urban Affairs for shortage of housing stock for general pool residential accommodation (GPRA). There has been a persistent shortage despite the fact that actual demand has gone down over the years. Lack of proper planning in executing projects has led to impasse, noted the panel in its report.

Demand for houses has gone down from 98,789 in 2008 to 82,803 in September 2020 and there has been a shortage of 36-37% of GPRA.

"The committee is intrigued by the inability of the directorate of estates/ministry of housing and urban affairs in augmenting the much needed housing stock," said the report tabled in Parliament.

Directorate of Estate (DoE) is responsible for management and administration of Central government owned residential and official accommodation. Its responsibilities also include maintenance, maintaining housing stock and allotment of houses among others.

While there have been many redevelopment projects for availability of new houses have been going on in New Delhi area, many of the projects have got delayed due to many reasons. The parliamentary panel found that the delay have been on account of encumbrances pertaining to vacation of schools, markets, community centers, IGL gas pipelines etc, and also due to encroachments. The delay is also due to replantation of trees and PILs filed in the NGT and High Court.

Freedom of speech can't be an unruly horse: NHRC head

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

WHILE freedom of speech is a fundamental right that has to be protected, it cannot be an 'unruly horse' that violates sovereignty and integrity of the country, public order, decency or morality, said Justice (retd) Arun Mishra, chairperson of the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC). He was speaking on the occasion of Human Rights Day. The former Supreme Court judge said one is obligated to be faithful to the values in Article 19 of the Constitution and related laws, and that honesty in the freedom of speech is feared the most. President Ram Nath Kovind said the world should also debate and discuss the 'right to a healthy environment and climate justice".

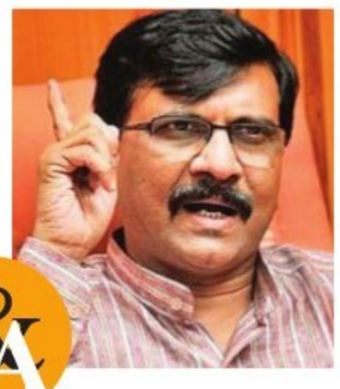
Sena heavyweight Raut says Pawar should unite Opposition before 2024 LS elections

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@New Delhi

SHIV Sena MP Sanjay Raut believes the country should have only one united Opposition and Congress has to be a part of it because of its pan-India presence. This is significant, considering Trinamool Congress chief Mamata Banerjee's recent stand that the grand old party be left out, if a new Opposition alliance is formed to take on BJP in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. Excerpts from an interview

The war of words between TMC and Congress over UPA leadership is escalating. How does Shiv Sena look at Congress as part of the Opposition?
Although Congress has lost elections in many states, it still has a pan-India political presence. Shiv Sena does not consider Congress to be a spent force. During my meeting with Rahul Gandhi and UPA chairperson Sonia Gandhi in New Delhi, I asked them — especially Rahul Gandhi — to start taking the lead in bringing Opposition parties together. Shiv Sena thinks Congress has 'kaviliyat' (ability) to lead the Opposition through UPA. Rahul Gandhi has qualities to lead the Opposition. He kept the farmer movement alive in UP.

It is learnt that TMC chief Mamata Banerjee is working to create a new Opposition front, excluding Congress, to take on BJP in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. Is it possible?
Our stand has always been clear. No other Opposition front without Congress would be effective. Shiv Sena does not endorse any such move. One should not forget Congress has won 45 seats in Maharashtra without having a leader of big stature. It is also true that Congress has not consolidated in West Bengal, but it fought well. No doubt, TMC is West Bengal's ruling party. But it does not mean that Mamata Banerjee, who has our respect for being a good politician, should lead the Opposition. What Congress needs to do now is start working for the Opposition. BJP has already started working for the next elections.



Why doesn't Shiv Sena take the lead in uniting Opposition parties?
We have left this on NCP chief Sharad Pawarji. Opposition parties should think beyond the state for the country. They can't remain busy with state-centric politics only. If Rahul Gandhi takes the lead, I hope all parties will support him. But there are leaders in Congress who don't want the good of the party. Internal opposition is a bigger enemy for the Congress party than BJP.

Is there a chance of Shiv Sena reuniting with BJP considering that the saffron party has sent feelers?
There is no chance. Shiv Sena is working in the right direction in Maharashtra in alliance with NCP and Congress. We are doing better teamwork with NCP and Congress than we did with BJP. The BJP's new leadership's behaviour was insulting towards us. It was only Narendra Modi, who was not in favour of breaking ties with Shiv Sena, but BJP's new leadership did it. Modiji is still held in high esteem by Shiv Sena because he is one senior BJP leader who worked with LK Adavani and AB Vajpayee and stalwarts of the old BJP. BJP wanted to damage Shiv Sena but Shiv Sena is not something that can be damaged.

Why is it said that the Opposition lacks a Prime Ministerial face even for the 2024 elections?
This is not true. If we look at the past, the face has always emerged when the situation demanded it, like Manmohan Singh and PV Narasinmha Rao. They led the nation far better. So leadership is not something that should bother the nation. It will come when it is needed. Need of the hour for the Opposition is a united fight against BJP. BJP spends 50% of its campaigning on projecting Rahul Gandhi in a Pappu-like image. Fact is, he has all the qualities to lead the Opposition.

It is not AFSPA which needs a re-look; it's the policy disconnect that needs to be fixed. The N-E cannot be treated as a forgotten region

Lt Gen R Roy, ex-chief of Assam Rifles

SANA SHAKIL @ New Delhi

WITH the death of 14 civilians in Nagaland's Mon district earlier this month, civilian casualties in the insurgency-hit Northeastern states has reached a three-year high, latest official data accessed by this newspaper shows. Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Nagaland and Manipur show a worrying trend of increase in incidents of violence.

There is some consolation, however, to be drawn from the fact that the number of militants and arms surrendered have reached a three-year peak in 2021.

According to a report prepared by the Intelligence Bureau on the Northeast, a record number of 1,448 surrenders were made this year till November 30 whereas only 112 and 158 militants had surrendered in 2020 and 2019. The incidents of violence reported till November 30 stood at 194, compared to 163 in 2020 and 223 in 2019.

Civilian casualties saw a sharp jump from three in 2020 to 33 this year, so far. Among security forces, nine deaths have been reported this year as against five in 2020 and four in 2019.

Violence had come down drastically in the Northeast over past two decades and 14 of the last 21 years recorded zero casualties among security forces. There is a sense among senior security officials monitoring the situation that the fresh spike in violence must be taken seriously.

EXPRESS EXCLUSIVE

Security experts point out that the inordinate delay in resolution of the Naga issue, with the peace talks dragging on for six years, is a cause for concern, especially with tempers running high due to the Mon incident. Some experts believe that revoking the Armed Forces Special Power Act (AFSPA) could be a way forward in calming the situation down in Nagaland and the entire region.

"Although violence has dipped in the Northeast over the years, the delay in Naga talks and some inappropriate remarks made by former interlocutor RN Ravi has already caused a bit of heartburn. And then, this horrible incident has taken place in which innocent civilians have been killed," said MP Nathanael, former IG of Central Reserve Police Force.

The officer is of the view that revocation of AFSPA could assuage the flared tempers. "It is high time AFSPA is removed, now that there is a call for the same from Meghalaya and Nagaland CMs, too. It will give a much-needed sense to people that things have started improving in the areas where AFSPA has been in place for decades now," Nathanael added.

Some others, however, believe there could be other ways to win the trust of the people. "It is not AFSPA which needs a re-look; it's the policy disconnect with the Northeast that needs to be fixed. The N-E cannot be treated as a forgotten region. Extra incentives need to be given to promote connectivity. Bodies like the Ministry of Development of North Eastern Region and the North Eastern Council need to be more active. Only when development happens can the security situation improve," said Lt Gen Rameshwar Roy, former chief of Assam Rifles.

Militants kill 2 policemen in Kashmir

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

TWO policemen were killed in a militant attack in north Kashmir's Bandipora district of Jammu and Kashmir on Friday.

A police officer said militants fired at a police party near Gulshan Chowk area of Bandipora at around 5.15 pm in which Selection Grade Constable Mohammad Sultan and Constable Fayaz Ahmad sustained multiple bullet injuries.

The militants fled from the scene after the attack. The injured policemen were shifted to a nearby hospital, where both of them succumbed to injuries., the police officer said.

No militant group has claimed responsibility for the attack so far.

Security officials rushed to the spot to take stock of the situation. A contingent of police, CRPF and army personnel also rushed to the area and launched a cordon and search operation to track down the militants. However, no arrests were made.

Police started investigation and launched a manhunt to track down the militants responsible for the attack. "Investigation is in progress and officers continue to work to establish the circumstances which lead to the militant attack," the officer said.

BJP turns to Netaji for youth connect

Hindutva rhetoric to continue in Kolkata poll

The BJP will continue to pursue Hindutva rhetoric in the Kolkata civic elections, with the December 13 inauguration of Kashi Vishwanath corridor presenting it with the platform to follow the agenda. Two days before the Varanasi event, BJP workers will visit the houses of priests and take out a morning procession. Workers will install giant screens outside the temples and telecast the Varanasi event. Election to the 144 wards of KMC is scheduled on December 19.

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

THE BJP will unveil a roadmap to revisit events linked with India's foremost revolutionary freedom fighter Subhash Chandra Bose for greater connect with the youth of the country.

Preparing to take people down memory lane, the BJP has asked all its state units to go big in commemorating the life events of Bose and to hold programmes for instilling patriotic fervour among the youth.

On January 23, the BJP will commemorate the birth anniversary of Bose in all parts of the country. In Haryana alone, it will organise commemorative meetings at 7,500 places at the same time where 75 persons each will together sing the theme songs of Azad Hind Fauj, including 'Kadam Kadam Badhaye Ja', BJP's Haryana chief Om Prakash Dhankar said.

"Over five lakh people will get together in all parts of the state and sing the theme songs of Azad Hind Fauj to commemorate the birth anniversary of Bose. This programme will be key for out state unit to connect with the people by instilling patriotic fervour."

Dhankar said that 1,500 people have contributed funds to book a chartered plane to Andaman and Nicobar and visit the Cellular Jail to commemorate the hoisting of the national flag in Port Blair by Bose on December 30, 1943. "Haryana has a deep connection with Azad Hind Fauj. We plan to take people to Andaman and Nicobar, and Nagaland where the Azad Hind Force fought against the British," he added.

Malik apologises to HC for Wankhede comments

MUMBAI: NCP leader and Maharashtra minister Nawab Malik on Friday tendered an unconditional apology to the Bombay High Court for making public comments about NCB official Sameer Wankhede and his family despite an assurance that he would not do so. Senior counsel Aspi Chinoy, who appeared for Malik, submitted an affidavit by the minister where he apologized for having violated the court's November 29 order. It was not his intention to dishonor the court by breaching his own undertaking, Malik said in the affidavit. But he also contended that he made the comments in question during an interview and they were not part of social media posts, or public comments.

Priyanka to rope in senior leaders for Mission 2022

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

TO accomplish her party's Mission 2022 in Uttar Pradesh, Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra is set to deploy senior party leaders and MLAs from other states and entrust them with responsibilities of different Assembly segments in the state.

As per highly placed sources in Congress, Priyanka held a meeting with leaders of Delhi, Haryana, Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh and Bihar in Delhi on Thursday. President of UP Pradesh Congress Committee (UPCC) Ajay Kumar Lallu was also present in the meeting.

Those privy to the meeting claimed that there was enthusiasm among the MLAs and party leaders claiming the country was looking at the Congress party in Uttar Pradesh.

An MLA from Chhattisgarh claimed that the lawmakers from the tribal state will put in their 100 per cent to install the Congress government in UP.

As per the party sources, the Chhattisgarh MLAs were called to Lucknow on December 15 for allotment of assembly seats.

Lallu said that a meeting of observers was also held. He claimed that owing to the diligence of Priyanka Gandhi, a palpable change in favour of Congress was now visible in Uttar Pradesh.

Congress exodus on in Meghalaya, 11 Garo council members join TMC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

THE Congress suffered yet another blow in Meghalaya where all its 11 elected members of the Garo Hills Autonomous District Council (GHADC) on Thursday evening switched their allegiance to Trinamool Congress.

This comes just days after 12 of the 17 Congress MLAs joined the TMC, thereby dramatically making it the state's principal opposition party.

During the intervening period, 400 Youth Congress members resigned from the party and 600 others quit the National Students' Union of India. They are likely to join the Mamata Banerjee-led party.

It is for the first time that the Congress does not have an elected representative in the GHADC, which was formed in 1952 when Meghalaya was a part of Assam. In the last GHADC election held in April, the Congress was the single largest party by winning 12 of the 30 seats. Later, one member had defected to the regional United Democratic Party.

The TMC welcomed the 11 council members to the party fold at a function.

Two days ago, TMC leader and former chief minister Mukul Sangma had made an offer to the remaining five Congress MLAs to join the party. He had asked them to understand the ground reality and take a conscious decision, stating that if they meant business and wanted to serve their people, they should jump the Congress ship.

Trouble for the Congress in Meghalaya began two months ago when Shillong MP Vincent H Pala was appointed as the party's state president. Sangma felt threatened by Pala's appointment. Eventually, Sangma and 11 other Congress MLAs, loyal to him, ditched the party.

Resignations hit grand old party in Goa as well

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

A spate of resignations hit the Congress in Goa on the day Priyanka Gandhi Vadra landed in the state to kickstart her party's Assembly poll campaign.

Interacting with tribal women in Morpirla village in Quepem assembly segment, Priyanka promised 30 per cent reservation in jobs for women if the Congress comes to power in the state. In an indirect dig at AAP and TMC, she cautioned voters against the false promises made by 'outsiders' and referred to the pollution in Delhi, where the Aam Aadmi Party is in power.

Earlier in the day, senior South Goa leader Moreno Rebelo and Gupesh Naik, a former zilla panchayat leader from Porvorim, quit the party. Naik led a group of Congressmen in exiting the party, accusing it of being non-serious about the elections in the state.

Rebelo expressed discontent against the decision to field Curtorim MLA Aleixo Reginaldo Lourenco again. "He never participated in any party activities...only abused party leaders...but is declared candidate," he said in his resignation letter.

Ranchi engineer extracting bio-fuel from microalgae gets offer from IOC

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

VISHAL Prasad Gupta, who hit the headlines for extracting bio-diesel from micro algae found in water bodies, has been invited by the Indian Oil Corporation for collaboration to explore the potential of his technology.

Apart from IOC, Gupta claimed, he was approached by Kerala government and many oil majors after a report related to his 'invention' was published in November 18 edition of 'The Morning Standard'.

EXPRESS IMPACT

Gupta has been manufacturing the bio-fuel at a small plant set up on the outskirts of Ranchi after obtaining approval from the Union Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas.

The engineering graduate is likely to sign an agreement with IOC in New Delhi on Monday. "I have been offered to collaborate with IOC for utilising the potential of algae based biodiesel in India," he said.

"After the report was published in The Morning Standard, IOC officials contacted and asked me to give an online presentation before a team of 250 experts."

"Basically, they wanted me to apprise them on the technology, its commercial aspect and potential to develop algae-based biodiesel in India," he said.

After the presentation, the expert team appreciated his initiative, Gupta said, adding that the IOC officials immediately invited him to Delhi for signing an agreement for collaboration.

Shiv Sena looks for Congress route to Delhi

Shiv Sena by growing close with Congress is not only safeguarding the Uddhav Thackeray-led Maha Vikas Aghadi, but is also looking to climb the ranks in Delhi. After winning the Dadra Nagar Haveli Lok Sabha bypolls, Sena president Uddhav Thackeray has renewed his ambitions. Thackeray wants to be the dark horse in the post-2024 Lok Sabha elections scenario, therefore keeping safe distance from West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee and growing closer with Congress. 'If Deve Gowda can, then why not Uddhav Thackeray?' is the discussion in Shiv Sena inner circles.

Congress upset as Bhoyar card backfires in Nagpur

Maharashtra Congress president Nana Patole has burned his fingers after poaching former RSS member and BJP leader Dr Ravindra Bhoyar into the party. Bhoyar had been rewarded with a ticket for the Nagpur MLC polls and was pitted against BJP heavyweight Chandrashekhar Bawankule. Bhoyar promised to deliver for the Congress. However, the BJP managed to patch up relations with Bhoyar after which he suddenly announced that he would not contest the election. The Congress was left red-faced by the turn of events. Patole rushed to Delhi to convince the central leadership to replace the candidate, barely a day before the voting. Patole's haste to save the day at the eleventh hour was seen as a saving grace. But, the changes has not gone well with the party central leadership.

BJP leader's daughter to wed Thackeray scion

Wedding bells are ringing in the Thackeray and Patil families. Nihar, a lawyer by profession, is son of late Bindumadhav Thackeray. One of the Bal Thackeray heirs, Bindumadhav Thackeray had passed away in an accident in 1996. Ankita Patil is a Pune district parishad member and also director of Indian Sugar Mills Association.

Sanjay Raut's ties with Gandhi cause heartburn

Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut proximity with Congress leader Rahul Gandhi don't sit right with Maharashtra Congress leaders. Recently, a senior Congress leader, who is also a minister in the Maharashtra government, complained to the central party leadership that the party's former president Rahul Gandhi gives more time to non-Congress leaders and said this will send the wrong signal to party workers. One Congress leader even said Sanjay Raut made more attempts to defend Congress – it's legacy and ideology – more than Congress leaders. The Congress leader termed Sanjay Raut as the 'super chief spokesman' of the grand old party.

IMRAN'S FAILED BID

The TTP's decision to end the ceasefire is a big setback to the government's efforts to secure a peace agreement

SPILLOVER EFFECT

The militant group, also known as Tehrik-e-Taliban Pakistan, has been behind numerous attacks on Pakistani security forces and civilians over the last 14 years

TTP was also behind a 2014 attack on an army-run school in the northwestern city of Peshawar that killed 154 people, mostly schoolchildren

They are a separate group from the Taliban in Afghanistan, who took over that country in August

However, the two groups are close allies and TTP leaders and fighters have over the years sought sanctuary across the border in Afghanistan

The Pakistani Taliban have been emboldened by the return to power of the Taliban in Afghanistan and there have been concerns of renewed violence within Pakistan

DIPLOMACY WITH TERRORISTS

September 10: Pakistan President Dr Arif Alvi suggests the government could consider giving amnesty to members of the banned Tehrik-i-Taliban Pakistan (TTP)

September 15: Foreign minister Shah Mehmoud Qureshi says the government is open to talks with TTP leaders

October 1: Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan confirms that his government is in peace talks with the TTP

November 5: Pak officials say the government has reached a broader understanding with the TTP to end two-decade-long militancy

November 8: Information Minister Fawad Chaudhry announces that the government has reached a ceasefire agreement with the TTP

December 10: TTP declares an end to ceasefire saying the government failed to implement the agreement reached between the two sides

28 per cent
decline in TTP-led militant attacks inside Pakistan since October, when the ceasefire came into effect, according to official statistics of the government of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa. Attacks by the TTP had seen a dramatic spike in the immediate aftermath of the Afghan Taliban's takeover of Kabul in mid-August

Pak Taliban ends ceasefire, to resume attacks

TTP blames Pakistan govt for failing to implement peace agreement, conducting raids targeting its members

ISLAMABAD

THE banned Tehreek-i-Taliban Pakistan (TTP) will not extend the month-long ceasefire deal negotiated with the Pakistan government, the militant group has announced, in a major setback to Prime Minister Imran Khan's efforts to secure a peace agreement with the dreaded outfit waging war against the state for decades.

A statement issued by the TTP on Thursday accusing the Pakistan government of failing to honour the decisions, including the release of their fighters. It gave out details of the six-point agreement reached with the government under the aegis of the 'Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan' (IEA) on October 25, 2021, the Dawn newspaper reported.

The two sides, according to the agreement, had accepted that the IEA would play the role of a mediator and that both sides would form five-member committees each which, under the supervision of the mediator, would discuss the next course of action and demands of each side. Both sides, it said, had also agreed to observe a month-long ceasefire from November 1 to November 30, 2021, and that the government would release 102 'imprisoned mujahideen' and hand them over to the TTP through the "IEA and that both sides would issue a joint statement regarding the ceasefire on November 1, 2021", the report said.

According to the statement, the government not only failed to implement the decisions reached between the two sides but on the contrary, the security forces conducted raids in Dera Ismail Khan, Lakki Marwat, Swat, Bajaur, Swabi and North Waziristan and killed and detained militants.

"Under these circumstances, it is not possible to extend the ceasefire," the TTP said.

Earlier in an audio message, TTP chief Mufti Noor Wali Mahsud announced an end to the ceasefire and asked his fighters to resume attacks past 12 am. The ceasefire had come into effect on November 9, the report added.

In the message, Mufti Noor can be heard as saying that since the TTP has not heard back from the mediators or the government, therefore, past midnight, his fighters reserve the right to resume attacks.

Quoting sources, the Dawn reported that during the informal talks, it has been made clear to the TTP that there are certain redlines which are not open to negotiations. The TTP, however, has set its own conditions which among other things include enforcement of Shariah and restoration of tribal areas to pre-merger status. PTI

CROWDED MIGRANT TRUCK OVERTURNS IN MEXICO; 53 DEAD

TUXTLA GUTIÉRREZ

AT least 53 migrants crammed into a truck traveling at high speed were killed on Thursday in Mexico after the vehicle overturned in the southern state of Chiapas, a major transit point for those trying to reach the United States.

Thousands of people attempt the long and dangerous journey, often seeking a life free of violence and poverty in their home nations in South America.

It is unclear how many people were traveling in the truck but at least 58 were injured, three seriously, according to a preliminary report from the prosecutor's office in Chiapas, bordering Guatemala.

"It was horrible to hear the wailing. I just thought about helping," 18-year-old Sabina Lopez, who lives near the scene of the accident, told AFP.

Luis Manuel Garcia, from the Civil Protection director for Chiapas -- which will take over the investigation into the accident -- said most of the travelers were from Guatemala.

The driver, who fled the scene, appeared to have been speeding when he lost control of the vehicle on the highway connecting Chiapa de Corzo city with state capital Tuxtla Gutierrez, officials said.

Mexican leader Andres Manuel Lopez Obrador tweeted his condolences, calling the incident "very painful."

Local state governor Rutilio Escandon said that "law enforcement will determine who is responsible," adding that those hurt would be treated promptly.

At the roadside AFP saw rows of bodies covered with white sheets as rescue workers, ambulances and police officials swarmed over the scene.

> The crying, the pain, the desperation. It was a very ugly atmosphere
>
> Isaias Diaz, resident of Tuxtla Gutierrez

Lopez, who lives in the popular El Refugio neighborhood nearby, told AFP she saw a man pleading with his wounded companion.

"Don't go to sleep, don't close your eyes," she recalled him saying. "Remember what you promised your mother! Hold on."

Another resident Isaias Diaz described a "terrible" scene, with "a lot of people lying around, some of them were already dead."

Moving undocumented migrants hidden in trucks is the most common method used by human traffickers operating along the border from Guatemala into Mexico, where they then head north to the American border. AFP

US INFLATION SURGES CLOSE TO 40-YEAR HIGH

WASHINGTON

US consumer prices rose last month at a rate not seen in nearly 40 years, the government reported on Friday, underscoring how inflation threatens the world's largest economy and President Joe Biden's public support. The Labor Department's consumer price index (CPI) jumped 6.8 per cent compared to November of last year, its biggest gain since June 1982 as prices for gasoline, used cars, rent, food and other goods continued to climb. While the report contained signs that the inflation wave may be reaching a crest, it nonetheless poses a political liability for the president, with the Republican opposition using it to argue against his economic policies. "Today's numbers reflect the pressures that economies around the world are facing as we emerge from a global pandemic — prices are rising," Biden said in a statement. AFP

Nobel winner blasts social media over 'toxic sludge'

OSLO

ACCEPTING her Nobel Peace Prize on Friday, Filipina journalist Maria Ressa launched a vitriolic attack against US tech giants, accusing them of fuelling a flood of "toxic sludge" on social media.

Ressa, the co-founder of news website Rappler, accepted this year's prize at a ceremony at Oslo's City Hall together with her co-laureate Dmitry Muratov, the editor-in-chief of Novaya Gazeta, one of the rare independent newspapers in a Russian media landscape largely under state control. Speaking to a scaled-down crowd due to the pandemic, 58-year-old Ressa attacked "American internet companies" such as Facebook, Twitter and YouTube without mentioning them by name.

"With its god-like power", their technology "has allowed a virus of lies to infect each of us, pitting us against each other, bringing out our fears, anger and hate, and setting the stage for the rise of authoritarians and dictators around the world," she said.

"Our greatest need today is to transform that hate and violence, the toxic sludge that's coursing through our information ecosystem, prioritised by American internet companies that make more money by spreading that hate and triggering the worst in us," she said. Ressa stressed the importance of reliable facts at a time when the world is battling the Covid-19 pandemic or facing upcoming elections in countries like France, the United States, the Philippines and Hungary. These companies "are biased against facts, biased against journalists. They are -- by design -- dividing us and radicalising us," she said.

Ressa, a vocal critic of Filipino President Rodrigo Duterte and his deadly drug war, is herself facing seven criminal lawsuits in her country, which she said could see her sent to prison for 100 years. AFP

London court green-lights Assange's extradition to US

Julian Assange

LONDON

A British appellate court opened the door on Friday for Julian Assange to be extradited to the United States by overturning a lower court's decision that the WikiLeaks founder's mental health was too fragile to withstand the American criminal justice system.

The High Court in London ruled that US assurances were enough to guarantee Assange would be treated humanely and directed a lower court judge to send the extradition request to Britain's interior minister for review. Home Secretary Priti Patel, who oversees law enforcement in the UK, will make the final decision on whether to extradite Assange. "There is no reason why this court should not accept the assurances as meaning what they say," the High Court ruling stated. "There is no basis for assuming that the USA has not given the assurances in good faith."

Assange's fiancé, Stella Moris, called the decision a "grave miscarriage of justice" and said Assange's lawyers would seek to appeal to the UK Supreme Court.

"We will fight," Moris said outside court, where supporters gathered with banners demanding Assange's release.

"Every generation has an epic fight to fight and this is ours, because Julian represents the fundamentals of what it means to live in a free society," she said. Assange, 50, is currently being held at London's high-security Belmarsh Prison. In January, a lower court judge refused the US request to extradite Assange to face spying charges over WikiLeaks' publication of secret military documents a decade ago. District Judge Vanessa Baraitser denied extradition on health grounds, saying the Australian citizen was likely to kill himself if held under harsh US prison conditions. AP

11-year battle not to be sent to U.S.

British judges on Friday overturned a ruling blocking him being sent there to face espionage charges, in the latest twist in the long-running case

JULY, 2010: Assange's WikiLeaks whistleblowing website begins releasing 4,70,000 US classified military documents

NOV, 2010: A Swedish prosecutor issues an arrest warrant for Assange over sexual assault allegations involving two women

FEB, 2011: A British judge rules that Assange can be extradited to Sweden. He appeals, claiming the Swedish allegations are a pretext to transfer him to the US

JUNE, 2012: He takes refuge in Ecuador's embassy in London to avoid extraditionire"

MAY, 2017: Swedish prosecutors drop the sex assault investigation after failing to obtain Assange's transfers

JANUARY, 2018: Ecuador, now ruled by right-wing President Lenin Moreno, says hosting Assange has become "untenable". In March it temporarily cuts his communication links

APRIL, 2019: British police drag Assange out of the embassy, having been informed that his asylum has been withdrawn. He is arrested on a US extradition request. In May, Assange is sentenced to 50 weeks in jail for having breached bail in 2010

MAY, 2019: The US Justice Department charges Assange with violating the US Espionage Act by publishing military and diplomatic files in 2010. If convicted, he faces jail terms of up to 175 years.

UN rights experts Nils Melzer says Assange has been subjected to "psychological torture" that had seriously affected his health.

NOVEMBER, 2020: On November 19, Swedish prosecutors drop the rape investigation because "the evidence is not strong enough"

JANUARY, 2021: Assange's supporters celebrate after a London court blocks his extradition in January on the grounds that he would be a suicide risk if sent to the US.

DECEMBER, 2021: But with the whistleblower still behind bars, a High Court appeal overturns the verdict Friday, sending the case back to the original court after the US promised that Assange would not be held in isolation in American jails and would receive proper medical treatment

Currency in use nears ₹30 lakh cr

Cash in circulation is 7.6% higher than last year; popular in small transactions, says RBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

DESPITE a spectacular jump in digital payments, the love for cash among Indians fails to go away. The value of total cash in circulation is nearing ₹30 lakh crore as the latest data from the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) shows that total cash in circulation was worth ₹29.84 lakh crore at the week ending 3rd December. This is 7.6% higher than the cash in circulation a year ago.

In terms of Cash-to-GDP ratio, this is already more than 13% of the budgeted GDP estimate of ₹223 lakh crore in 2021-22. The Cash-to-GDP ratio in 2020-21 was 14.41%, steadily rising from 8.67% at the end of 2016-17, the year in which ₹500 and ₹1,000 currency notes worth ₹15.41 lakh crore were withdrawn from circulation. India's currency in circulation to GDP has crossed 12% when the government decided to demonetize ₹500 and ₹1,000 currency notes on Nov 8, 2016.

Year	Cash in circulation*	Cash/GDP ratio (%)
2021-22*	29.84	13.38
2020-21	28.53	14.41

Note: 2021-22 Cash/GDP ratio is arrived at by taking FY22 GDP estimate

Even as experts try to figure out the reasons for steady growth of cash in use in the economy, RBI governor T Rabi Shankar in the post-monetary policy press briefing on Wednesday said that "cash continues to be a major instrument for very small transactions of below ₹500.

"There is also a store of value demand for currencies," the deputy governor reasoned. The currency in circulation at the end of 2016-17 was worth ₹13.35 lakh crore, and over the past 5 years, it has grown at the of 17% annually while the nominal GDP during the same time has grown at 7.7%.

Digital payments in India have become popular with UPI-based payments registering a huge surge. According to National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI), the value of monthly transactions through UPI has been around ₹7.7 lakh crore. In 2016-17, a total value of retail transactions on UPI was a mere ₹6,947 crore. Retail transactions worth ₹49 lakh crore have taken place through UPI alone so far in 2021-22.

'India to have up to 150 m 5G phones till network roll-out'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIA can expect 100 to 150 million 5G smartphones existing in the country by the time 5G network starts off, said a top executive of Jio on Friday. While speaking at the India Mobile Congress, Sunil Dutt, president, devices and mobility of Jio, also highlighted that today India has 500 million smartphone users and by the time 5G network rolls out, the number will be 600 million. "We can expect between 100 to 150 million 5G smartphones existing in the country by the time the network starts off," said Sunil Dutt.

Jio had launched 4G only network in 2016 while other telcos are still offering 2G services, besides 3G and 4G.

"We've already seen how 4G actually impacted the country. And there was a generational shift from 2G to 4G, because 3G really did not have any kind of an impact on this country," said Dutt.

The government may start the 5G auctions process in April-May next year. Recently, TRAI sought views from stakeholders on issues including the applicable reserve prices and band plan, block size, quantum of spectrum

Auction likely next year

The government may start the 5G auctions process in April-May next year. Recently, TRAI sought views from stakeholders on issues including the applicable reserve prices and band plan, block size, quantum of spectrum to be auctioned.

The panel also included Raghavan Sampath, director, Business Development of semiconductor firm MediaTek, who said both 4G and 5G phones will coexist in future. "Today 5G phones have breached sub-₹15,000 already. By 2022, expectation is that it would go between $150 and $200, that is around ₹10,000-₹12,000," said Sampath.

Bharti Airtel, also in the panel, said that the company expects cloud gaming to be a growth driver when 5G comes into play. "We are now partnering with certain publishers to see how the games are going to evolve to a 5G world," he added. The telco also estimates demand for enterprise businesses to grow once 5G comes in," said Adarsh Nair, chief product officer for Airtel.

5G will reduce digital divide: TRAI chief

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

TO reduce the digital divide that exists in India today and to ensure the 5G network reaches everywhere, Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) on Friday suggested using Fixed Wireless Access devices (FWA) connected to 5G networks. "While almost every urban city and its surrounding towns have mobile network access, there are many rural and remote regions in India that still don't have access to mobile network services. FWA devices connected to 5G networks could be installed to ensure that mobile network coverage reaches there too," said P D Vaghela, Chairman of TRAI.

While speaking at the India Mobile Congress, Vaghela highlighted the importance of 5G, saying the network "will provide an opportunity to create a purpose-built network tailored to the different needs and can propel the growth of the nation".

PHILIPPINES

CENTRAL BANK SEES 2021 CAD AT 1% OF GDP, 2.3% IN '22

The Philippine central bank on Friday released revised projections for the current account and balance of payments this year and for 2022, reflecting it said the global economy's recovery as well as lingering pandemic-related risks. The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) now expects the country's current account this year to post a deficit of $4 billion, or 1% of GDP, revising its projection from a surplus equivalent to 0.9% of GDP. For next year, it projected a current account deficit of $9.9 billion, or 2.3% of GDP, wider than its previous deficit forecast equivalent to 0.3% of GDP. The balance of payments (BOP) is now projected to yield a narrower surplus of $1.6 billion, or 0.4% of GDP, this year, compared with a previous estimate of 1.1%. The BOP surplus in 2022 is expected to be even narrower at $700 million, or 0.2% of GDP, from a previous forecast equivalent to 0.4% of GDP. It, however, trimmed its year-end projections for gross international reserves to $111 billion and $112 billion next year, from $114 billion and $115 billion, respectively, to factor in some foreign loan repayments.

CHINA

YUAN OFF 3-1/2-YEAR HIGH ON PBOC'S STRONG SIGNAL

China's yuan slipped from a three and a half year high against the dollar on Friday, after the central bank set a much weaker-than-expected midpoint following a directive the previous day that banks hold more foreign exchange in reserve. But losses were capped by persistently heavy seasonal demand from firms, mainly exporters, looking to convert their foreign earnings into local currency at the year-end, traders said. Before the market open on Friday, the People's Bank of China (PBOC) set the midpoint rate at 6.3702 per dollar, compared with 6.3498 previously. But the guidance was much softer than market projections. The midpoint dragged both onshore and offshore yuan to their lowest in about two weeks. The onshore yuan touched a low of 6.39 per dollar before changing hands at 6.3649 at midday, when its offshore counterpart traded at 6.3682. Some market strategists and traders said fundamental factors including robust exports, a record trade surplus, steady capital inflows into Chinese assets and ample dollar liquidity onshore would be minimally affected by the policy adjustment.

JAPAN

HAMMERING OUT TAX REFORM TO BOOST WAGES

Japan's ruling party will review taxes on investments next year, a top party official said on Friday, as it and its coalition partner approved an annual reform plan aimed at encouraging pay increases to boost and distribute wealth. The first annual tax reform plan under Prime Minister Fumio Kishida, who took office in October, focused on his policy objective of a "new capitalism" stoking a virtuous cycle of growth and wealth distribution to defeat deflation. "We must consider how to respond to the financial income tax from next year," said Yoichi Miyazawa, a veteran member of the upper house of parliament who heads the ruling Liberal Democratic Party's tax panel, referring to tax on investments. He told reporters there was a lot of work yet to be done on tax reform. Since taking office, Kishida has been piling pressure on Japanese firms to raise wages, urging companies whose profits have returned to pre-pandemic levels to increase pay by 3% or more. Under the reform plan approved on Friday, firms that raise wages by 4% from the previous year and boost the training of workers can get deductions of up to 30% on their taxable income. On taxation of investment income - imposed on capital gains on stocks and property, dividends and interest payment on savings and Japanese government bonds - the plan called for "comprehensive consideration", without giving specifics.

DGCA probes into snag in SpiceJet 737 Max plane

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AVIATION regulator Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) has launched an investigation into Thursday's incident wherein SpiceJet's Max aircraft made an emergency landing at the Mumbai airport after one of its engines faced a technical issue. The plane —which has registration number VT-MXE — will remain grounded till it is cleared by the DGCA.

DGCA has asked the airline, aircraft manufacturer Boeing, and engine maker CFM to join the probe and provide all information regarding the snag that happened on Thursday.

This probe and technical snags comes less than a month after SpiceJet restarted operations of its Boeing 737 MAX aircraft after a gap of around two-and-a-half years.

Boeing as well as SpiceJet faced a major setback in March 2019 when aviation regulators around the world, including India, started grounding 737 MAX aircraft following its involvement in two fatal crashes that killed 346 people.

Any risk to 737's smooth operation poses a big risk to both Boeing and SpiceJet. The loss-making carrier had recently said that return of the Max will be a game-changer for them as it is 20% more 'fuel efficient'. As for the US-based aerospace company Boeing, which made necessary software rectifications in Max planes to get green signal from regulators worldwide, any hindrances in the aircraft may jeopardize its aggressive sales pitch to airline companies. While at present SpiceJet is the only Indian carrier that uses the Max planes, billionaire investor Rakesh Jhunjhunwala's Akasa recently ordered 72 such planes.

LIC CAN RAISE STAKE IN INDUSIND BANK

NEW DELHI: Private bank IndusInd Bank on Friday said the RBI has given approval to Life Insurance Corporation to increase stake in the bank to nearly 10%. The bank has received an intimation from the RBI on December 9, 2021, that it has granted its approval to Life Insurance Corporation (LIC), shareholder of the bank to acquire up to 9.99% of the total issued and paid up capital of the bank, the bank said in a regulatory filing on stock exchanges. The state-run insurer holds 4.95% of the total issued and paid-up capital of the bank. The RBI approval is subject to the compliance with the direction on 'Prior Approval for Acquisition of Shares and Voting Private Sector Banks' as well as regulations of the Sebi and any guidelines or regulations. The Reserve Bank last month had accepted most of the recommendations of its working group on corporate ownership of private sector banks, by allowing unrestrained promoter shareholding in the first five years of operations. It recommended hiking the same to 26% after 15 years from the extant 15% and also the new capital requirements. PTI

Star Health lists at 6% discount; closes in green

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

IPO WAS SUBSCRIBED ONLY 79%

₹6,400 cr	₹900	₹849
Total IPO size	Issue price	Listing price

THE country's largest private health insurer Star Health and Allied Insurance, backed by ace investor Rakesh Jhunjhunwala, made a weak debut on the Indian exchanges on Friday, listing at a discount of 6% at ₹849 on the BSE compared to its issue price of ₹900.

This is the second time in quick succession when a large IPO is entering the public market at a discount. Last month, Paytm, which had issued India's largest IPO worth ₹18,300 crore, entered the stock exchanges on Thursday at a discount of over 9% and the stock ended its first session 27% lower at ₹1,564. Shares of Star Health, however, recovered and touched a high of ₹940 during the day. At closing, the stock settled at ₹906.85, up 0.76% from its issue price.

The weak listing was in expected line as the IPO saw a tepid response and was subscribed only 79%. Due to this, the firm had to cut its offer for sale size to ₹4,400 crore from ₹5,249 crore. This changed the total IPO size to ₹6,400 crore instead of ₹7,249 crore.

"Star Health Insurance IPO which is one of the big brands backed by big-name got a very poor response from all categories of investors especially QIB (qualified institutional buyer) because they didn't show any interest because of expensive valuations, therefore, we are seeing a poor listing," said Santosh Meena, Head of Research, Swastika Investmart.

Add to it, the increase in the number of Covid-19 claims continues to have a negative effect on health insurance providers. "We believe Star will continue to grow at a faster pace than industry. However, we find valuations at an expensive end from a near term perspective, not leaving much upside on the table. In addition, hospitalisation of non-covid cases could be a negative surprise in forthcoming months" said Aditya Birla Capital in a note to its investors.

Meanwhile, Jhunjhunwala, who holds 14.98% stake in the company, made a profit of over ₹6,500 crore when the stock touched its intraday high of ₹940. He had bought 2,882,958 equity shares in the company.

Cognizant completes acquisition of Devbridge

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

US-BASED Cognizant Technology Solutions has completed its acquisition of Chicago-headquartered Devbridge, a privately-held software consultancy and product development company.

The acquisition expands Cognizant's software product engineering capabilities and global delivery footprint by adding more than 600 engineers, designers and product managers in Lithuania, Poland, United States, United Kingdom, and Canada, Cognizant said. This is Cognizant's 20th acquisition since 2019.

"Our clients need agile and transformative partners that are capable of designing and building new software products that directly engage with consumers and employees on their terms," said Andres Angelani, SVP, Chief Product Engineering Officer, Cognizant. Upon completion of the acquisition, Devbridge employees will become part of Cognizant Softvision, which develops custom digital products and has a global footprint with studios in the US, Romania, India, Philippines, Argentina, Ukraine, Canada, and Mexico.

Since 2019, Cognizant has invested more than $2.5 billion in acquisitions that expand its offerings in digital engineering, data and artificial intelligence, cloud, and the Internet of Things. Recently, the company said it is anticipating an 8% to 11% constant currency revenue growth for 2022 to 2024.

"We're continuing to anticipate to plan approximately 50% of our free cash flow to acquisitions. 25% of our cash flow is being used to share repurchases. Those share repurchases set the dilution caused by our equity compensation, and we're targeting a 25% payout on dividends," Cognizant CFO Jan Siegmund told investors recently.

ISRO ties up with Oppo for tech R&D

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU

Kyndryl and Google Cloud partner to accelerate digital biz transformation

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

IT infrastructure services provider Kyndryl, which is a spinoff of IBM Corp's managed infrastructure business, has partnered with Google Cloud to help customers accelerate their conversion to digital businesses.

According to Gartner, 69% of company boards of directors have urged their firms to kick digital transformation efforts into high gear.

Both Kyndryl and Google Cloud will unleash the power of data and analytics, applied artificial intelligence (AI) and infrastructure modernisation to help customers gain new insights and drive business outcomes.

In addition, Kyndryl's managed services for Google Cloud will help customers run their most critical business systems on Google Cloud's global and sustainable infrastructure, the company said.

"Through this strategic partnership, Kyndryl and Google Cloud will enable businesses to operate more efficiently, embrace the benefits of cloud and augment their operations with advanced data, analytics, and AI technology," Martin Schroeter, CEO and chairman of Kyndryl, said.

Kyndryl will accelerate its migration of mission-critical SAP workloads to Google Cloud by applying its ERP expertise to help customers move their SAP workloads to Google Cloud's global, it added. On November 3, 2021, IBM completed the separation of Kyndryl into an independent publicly traded company. Kyndryl has over 88,400 employees and 4,000 customers in more than 60 countries.

Sebi allows use of pool accounts by MFs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE capital market regulator — Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) — has eased the rules for use of pool accounts by mutual funds.

The regulator has in a circular issued on Friday allowed the mutual funds to use pool accounts, only for those transactions which are executed at mutual fund level owing to certain operational and regulatory requirements.

Earlier, the Sebi rules prohibited such use of pool accounts. As per existing rules trustees and asset management companies (AMCs) are to ensure the assets and liabilities of each scheme are segregated and ring-fenced from other schemes of the MF, and bank accounts and securities accounts of each scheme are also segregated and ring-fenced.

However, after the mutual fund industry apprised the regulator of instances where pool accounts are used at mutual fund level for operational ease and certain regulatory requirements, the agreed to allow the industry to use pool accounts.

However, such use of pool accounts is subject to certain conditions.

AMCs should have internal policies to ensure that adequate operational processes and internal controls are in place to segregate and ring-fence the assets and liabilities of each scheme along with segregation and ring-fencing of securities and bank accounts.

In cases where pool accounts have been used for certain transactions, at the end of day, the assets and liabilities of each scheme should be segregated and ring-fenced from other schemes.

"The pool accounts for both securities and funds should have nil balance at the end of the day," says Sebi. In case if the funds lying in the pool bank account of the mutual fund are not identified, due to unavoidable reasons, the fund should be transferred to the respective scheme account not later than one business day from the day such transactions are identified. At no point of time the securities or funds of one scheme should be used for another scheme(s) and there should not be any conflict of interest amongst investors.

FOUAAD CAUGHT IN DIFFERENT HURDLE

EFI's insistence on needing CCI 2* scores as qualification criteria for Asiad a concern for Germany-based athlete

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

FOUAAD Mirza had circled December 11 on his calendar for a long time. "My grand mother's birthday," he says. "I had thought about coming to India then, just meeting her and the family on her birthday, having a good time." That plan, though, was shelved the moment Omicron, the new coronavirus variant, emerged. "I stayed back in Germany."

Apart from taking part in a few events, the equestrian rider has remained in Germany (he was in Italy for an event in the first week of November) since coming back from the Olympics in August. Both his senior horses, Seigneur Medicott and Dajara 4 'have just come back into training after a long holiday'. "They went on a long holiday after putting in the hard yards for many months," he says. In their absence, he took Mokatoo with him for a few of the local shows. "He is only eight so he is young." Mokatoo, Fouaad hopes, will develop in time for Paris.

Up next for the 29-year-old is the World Equestrian Games (the World Championships), scheduled to be held in Herning, Denmark, from August 6-14, 2022.

He, however, does have a few issues to sort out before he can start planning for the Worlds. The equestrian part of the Asian Games in Hangzhou is from September 13-22 so peaking in two big events within a single month could be a challenge. While he wants to take part in both events — "competing for India is always an honour," he says — if he wants to keep in mind the big picture of Paris 2024, he can ill afford to spend time on the Asian Games. "The Worlds is a bigger event, the quality of competition is higher and the world's best will be there," the multiple Asian Games medallist says.

One can wonder why it's an issue considering there is a gap of a month between the two events but it's not as simple. Transporting horses to multiple timezones, getting them used to different surroundings and training for multiple events compared to training for a single meet... it's all different.

The other challenge Fouaad has is in convincing the Equestrian Federation of India (EFI) to consider a different qualification criteria for the Asian Games. Right now, the EFI have told Fouaad that they will only accept marks garnered from CCI 2* events. It's a class of event that the Bergedorf-based rider has outgrown. In elite equestrian, it's all about competing in CCI 4 and 5* meets. But the federation have remained steadfast in their refusal to accept scores from a higher level of competition. "I don't know why," he says. "I have told them I am willing to submit my scores of CCI 3, 4 and 5* meets but they have not said 'yes' to it so far."

This is a big problem considering that the horses and he will like to train for CCI 4 and 5* events to prepare for the Worlds. If he is to train to meet the qualification criteria — five CCI 2* meets with the federation taking the best three scores with the cut off being May — it could potentially ruin his Worlds preparation. "It will take a good six months out of my preparation for the Worlds," he rues. If EFI remain adamant, there could potentially be a scenario where they may force Fouaad's hands (EFI didn't respond). But he doesn't want to take that decision.

More complications after IOC letter to IOA

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

THERE seems to be no respite for the Indian Olympic Association (IOA). After the Delhi High Court asked the IOA maintain status quo on the elections, the International Olympic Committee (IOC) wrote a letter on Friday to the IOA asking them to complete elections by January 2022. Interestingly, the letter was sent to IOA president Narinder Batra on the same day when the Delhi HC was supposed to hear the matter.

The IOC took note of the court directives but it said that the elections should be held "latest by January 2022". The body was also not amused that the matter was not resolved internally. "It is unfortunate that such institutional and internal issues could not be addressed and resolved directly within the IOA, by the IOA's competent governing bodies, in accordance with the IOA constitution..." The IOC also said that any "potential proposal to amend the constitution should be as per IOA constitution and should be submitted to the IOC for prior approval ..."

Some senior members fear that things could go awry any moment. With the Court posting the matter for hearing to December 15, it would be difficult to finish the election process by January, especially if the constitution needs to be changed. It needs to be seen how the IOC reacts.

The IOA has been in a bitter power struggle between the president and secretary general, Rajeev Mehta, both of whose two four-year term ends on December 14. Batra and his camp want to go ahead with the AGM at least because the Executive Council has decided, but the Mehta camp feels it would be a waste of money.

Sports lawyer Rahul Mehra, who has dragged the IOA to court for flouting sports code in their constitution, said he did not have objection if IOA go ahead with the AGM. But there is a catch — who will decide the members representing NSFs and state units at the AGM. There seems to be a discrepancy in the Electoral College too.

Meanwhile, the court was critical about the way IOA has been functioning. The court even asked the IOA and the NSFs to put their house in order of the court will have to intervene. Mehra, who is also the petitioner, said the court has asked the IOA to get their house in order.

In fact, the court has pulled up the IOA and the NSFs for pointing out to the court that this would tarnish India's image. According to Mehra, the court told them that they are the ones who are supposed to solve problems but now they have turned themselves into a problem.

Jeremy, Achinta win gold, qualify for 2022 CWG

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

INDIAN weightlifters continued their good run at the ongoing Commonwealth Championship's in Taskhent, with Jeremy Lalrinnunga and Achinta Sheuli winning a gold each in their respective weight categories on Friday to qualify for the 2022 Commonwealth Games.

The 2018 Youth Olympics gold medallist Jeremy set a new national record in snatch in 67kg, while Achinta broke two records — clean & jerk and total — in 73kg en route the top finish.

The Championships also serves as a qualifying event of the 2022 CWG in Birmingham. The gold medalists in each weight category at the Commonwealth Championships directly qualify for the 2022 CWG and the rest will qualify through Commonwealth rankings.

JEREMY & ACHINTA

"I felt pain in my upper body around a fortnight ago. An MRI scan said muscle strain which prevented me from giving my best in clean and jerk event. Overall, I am happy that I have won a gold in the Commonwealth Championships," Jeremy told this daily from Tashkent.

Despite the pain, Jeremy set a national record in snatch section (141kg). The Mizo lifter though could not breach his personal best mark of 306 (snatch 140kg and clean & jerk 166kg) but the effort of 305kg was enough to help him finish first. The muscle strain meant he could not better his mark of 164kg after failing to lift 168kg in clean and jerk. The 19-year-old was placed fourth in snatch and seventh overall in the World Championships, which is being held simultaneously with the Commonwealth Championships. Going ahead, Jeremy said he aims to lift 320kg and the target seems achievable given the time he has before upcoming events.

Meanwhile, Achinta lifted 143kg in snatch before setting a national record in clean and jerk by lifting 173kg. He even tried to lift 176kg in his last attempt but failed. However, the lift of 173kg was enough to help him lift a total of 316kg, again a national record. "Achinta set two national records (one each in clean & jerk and total) and won the gold in Commonwealth Championships. He finished seventh in the Worlds," said Vijay Sharma, head coach.

Root, Malan dig deep

AFP @Brisbane

JOE Root and Dawid Malan put on a defiant unbeaten partnership of 159 to give England hope of salvaging a draw in the opening Ashes Test at the Gabba on Friday.

A rejuvenated England were 220/2 at the close of play, with skipper Root on 86 and Malan 80, only 58 runs behind Australia.

After England lost both openers in the session before tea, Root and Malan looked increasingly comfortable on the third-day Gabba pitch as they steadily wore down the Australian attack.

Root's classy 86 not out is one short of his highest score in Australia and took him past 1,500 runs in a calendar year, the most ever by an Englishman, surpassing Michael Vaughan's 1,481 in 2002.

Brief scores: England 147 & 220/2 in 70 ovs (Hameed 27, Malan 80 n.o, Root 86 n.o) vs Australia 425 in 104.3 ovs (Head 152, Starc 35, Wood 3/85).

Bengaluru, Goa aim for quick turnaround in ISL

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU FC and FC Goa have always been looked upon as strong sides in the ISL, but the ongoing season's points tally narrates a different story - a picture of disappointment. If Bengaluru lie on ninth place, Goa are tenth on the table. It is simple, both the teams, who have lost three matches each so far in the league, have failed to get their A game going, but are capable of doing much better.

Hence, both the teams need to forget whatever has happened so far when they square off against one another at the GMC Athletic Stadium in Bambolim on Saturday. With teams like Mumbai City having already started to shine with their displays, there is a serious need for both Bengaluru and Goa to improve upon their performance in the matches going ahead if they are to move up the table.

As for the Blues, at times, they havea given a good account of themselves, but have lacked consistency. More importantly, they have not been able to convert their chances into goals. Even their defense has not been great as their zero clean sheet suggests.

Bengaluru FC head coach Marco Pezzaiuoli wants his players to be better with the ball on the pitch and create more chances too against Goa. "The energy in the team is positive. Now it is important for us to get three points in the next game. Against Goa, it is important for us to be better with the ball, create more chances and score goals. We need to improve," said the coach.

The Gaurs come into this game confident on the back of their 4-3 win over East Bengal in the last game. It is their only win of the season. The problem for them has also been their defence, which has conceded 11 goals in the competition so far. Pezzaiuoli is also aware of the fact and wants his players to score against Goa. For that to happen, they need their forwards Cleiton Silva and Sunil Chhetri, who is yet to open his goal tally this season, to be on top of their game.

Bengaluru's Cleiton Silva | BFC

"The start has not been good for Goa, but their playing style with the ball has been good. I still think they are one of the better teams in the league, especially in ball possession. In the first four games, they showed weakness in the defensive work and that is our chance to score against Goa and get the three points," said Pezzaiuoli.

ITALY HITS AMAZON WITH $1.3-BN FINE

Watchdog said the firm abused its position by promoting its logistics services to the detriment of third parties

TECH

ROME: Italian regulators hit Amazon with a massive 1.1-billion-euro ($1.3-billion) antitrust fine on Thursday for allegedly abusing its dominance to push its logistics business, in the latest European action against US Big Tech.

The e-commerce firm, one of several technology giants in the firing line over their business practices, was swift to condemn what it called a "disproportionate" sanction and said it would appeal.

Italy's competition watchdog said Amazon abused its dominant position by promoting its own logistics or fulfilment service -- which ships and delivers packages -- on its Italian platform to the detriment of third-party sellers who did not use it. "The abusive strategy adopted by Amazon is particularly serious, since it is likely to discourage, if not eliminate, competition in the relevant markets," read the 250-page decision by the Italian Competition Authority.

Amazon said it "strongly" disagreed with the decision and would appeal, saying: "The proposed fine and remedies are unjustified and disproportionate." The move comes two weeks after the same authority imposed a 68.7-million-euro fine on Amazon for infringing EU laws through restrictions that penalised sellers of Apple and Beats products.

In the same action, Apple was ordered to pay 134.5 million euros. As Europe forges ahead with antitrust litigation, US regulators are closely watching its approach to big tech firms -- notably Google, Apple, Facebook, Amazon and Microsoft -- after Washington pledged to intensify scrutiny of the technology industry.

The Italian watchdog said Amazon's conduct under investigation dated from at least 2016, when it was possible to establish the online retailer's dominant market position in Italy based on revenue.

The fine was calculated as a percentage of worldwide revenue of Seattle-based parent company Amazon.com, but the agency said it acted on its authority to boost it by 50 percent, after taking into account the global size and dominance of the company.

"In view of the need to ensure the effective deterrence of the sanction, taking into account the fact that the Amazon Group had a global turnover in 2020 of more than 330 billion euros and Amazon's absolute importance at a global level, it is considered appropriate to apply a increase of 50 percent of the amount of the fine," it wrote.

Going forward, Amazon must grant sales privileges and visibility to all third-party sellers who meet fair and non-discriminatory standards for fulfilment, and must decide and publish such standards.

Those would be subject to review by a monitor, the agency said. In its decision, the Italian watchdog said third-party sellers who do not use Amazon's fulfilment service are excluded from "a set of advantages essential for obtaining visibility and better sales prospects".

Those included better access to Amazon's "most loyal and high-end customers" who use Amazon Prime, the e-commerce giant's loyalty program.

Moreover, a tough performance measurement system is reserved for sellers who do not use Amazon's logistics system, which can lead, if failed, to suspension of the seller's account.

"What Amazon did (allegedly) is very typical of what the GAFA companies do, that is to say use a dominant position to push a related activity, in this case logistics services," Pierre Zelenko, a lawyer specialising in competition law at Linklaters in Paris, told AFP.

Last month, EU legislation to impose unprecedented restrictions on how US tech giants do business passed a first, significant hurdle, with a European Parliament committee approving their version of the Digital Markets Act.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Mask that detects Covid

MEDICINE

Scientists have developed a new mask that uses ostrich antibodies to detect Covid-19 by glowing under ultraviolet light. It is hoped the innovation could enable low-cost testing of the virus at home. The non-woven mask features a filter coated with ostrich antibodies targeting Covid, based on the idea that previous research has shown the birds have strong resistance to disease. These antibodies were extracted from the eggs of ostriches that had been injected with an inactive, non-threatening form of the coronavirus, as antibodies transfer to the offspring through the yolk. They also form far more quickly in ostriches — in just six weeks compared to 12 in chickens — and are nearly 24 times bigger, allowing more room for them to form.

'Moon should get planet tag'

SPACE

Pluto and the Moon should be classed as planets, scientists have claimed. The IAU's controversial definition of a planet requires it to 'clear' its orbit – in other words, be the largest gravitational force in its orbit. This led to Pluto being removed off the planets' list. However, authors of this new study argue that the IAU's definition was rushed 'before vital issues were sorted'. A better definition of what a planet should be is whether it has ever been geologically active, they claim, although they admit this definition would have to include moons and even asteroids. This would potentially mean there would be several hundred objects classified as planets in our Solar System – one of the arguments for keeping the IAU's classification.

EU gig workers get shot in the arm

LAW

BRUSSELS: The EU took aim at the business model of gig economy companies like Uber and Deliveroo on Thursday with plans that could force them to reclassify their workers as fully-fledged employees.

The plan is an effort to sort out once and for all the employment status of millions of drivers and delivery people that the major platforms insist are self-employed. The debate has clogged up courts across Europe for almost a decade, with judges handing out more than a hundred decisions across the bloc's 27 member states, with hundreds more still pending. Those decisions can vary, with Belgium on Wednesday denying a small group of Deliveroo workers the designation of employees, while Uber lost in court in non-EU Britain over its service in London.

The proposal from the European Commission, the EU's executive arm, "will help (the) false self-employed working for platforms to correctly determine their employment status and enjoy all the social rights that come with that," she added. The potential for an EU-wide redesignation of platform workers sent the share prices of Deliveroo and other platforms plummeting in recent days over fears that their business model was under threat. If passed, the EU said its legislation could help reclassify about five million platform workers in the 27 member states as fully-fledged employees.

This will be because they met two of the EU's five criteria for redesignation, forcing some platforms to treat workers as if they were bricks and mortar firms with labour laws to obey.

The criteria include whether an app determines pay levels, makes demands on appearance such as the use of uniforms and equipment or restricts a worker's ability to refuse jobs. The designation would be rebuttable by the platforms, with companies given a chance to prove the self-employment status of their workers, with national laws the final arbiter.

Cosmetic changes cost camels beauty crown

PAGEANT

RIYADH: A high-stakes camel beauty pageant in Saudi Arabia has been hit by a cheating scandal after 43 entrants were disqualified for botox injections and other cosmetic enhancements.

The King Abdulaziz Camel Festival is an annual bedouin event held in the desert northeast of Riyadh that lures breeders from around the Gulf with prize money of up to $66 million. Organisers have in recent years cracked down on cosmetic enhancements, a malpractice that has thrived despite heavy penalties. The enhancements are made in a bid to make the camels' lips droopier and their humps more shapely.

"It was the largest number of disqualifications since the beauty contest was inaugurated six years ago. In 2018, more than a dozen camels were barred. Tampering is uncovered when camels undergo physical and clinical examinations to detect surgery.

No whale aquarium in Russia

CONSERVATION

Russian activists on Friday welcomed a move by President Vladimir Putin to close a legal loophole that allowed sea creatues, particularly whales, to be captured to perform in aquariums and other venues. Images of 100 whales cramped into a notorious facility dubbed the "whale jail" in Russia's far east sparked an international outcry in 2018. The whales, which were destined for aquariums, were freed after an intense campaign by rights groups and earlier this month Russia said it had fully dismantled the secretive facility. Greenpeace Russia director Sergei Tsyplyonkov had asked Putin to get rid of a legal loophole that allowed the capture of sea animals, most of them destined for aquariums in China. Tsyplyonkov said closing the loophole was "very important". Environmental groups put huge efforts into closing the notorious whale facility in Srednyaya Bay near the far eastern town of Nakhodka and releasing the whales into the wild. All of the animals went through rehabilitation before being released into the Sea of Okhotsk.

Scientists tweak coral evolution to make them more resilient to global warming

RESEARCH

HAWAII: On a moonless summer night in Hawaii, krill, fish and crabs swirl through a beam of light as two researchers peer into the water above a vibrant reef. Minutes later, like clockwork, they see eggs and sperm from spawning coral drifting past their boat. They scoop up the fishy-smelling blobs and put them in test tubes.

In this Darwinian experiment, the scientists are trying to speed up coral's evolutionary clock to breed "super corals" that can better withstand the impacts of global warming. For the past five years, the researchers have been conducting experiments to prove their theories would work. Now, they're getting ready to plant laboratory-raised corals in the ocean to see how they survive in nature. "Assisted evolution started out as this kind of crazy idea that you could actually help something change and allow that to survive better because it is changing," said Kira Hughes, a University of Hawaii researcher and the project's manager.

Researchers tested three methods of making corals more resilient: 1. Selective breeding that carries on desirable traits from parents; 2. Acclimation that conditions corals to tolerate heat by exposing them to increasing temperatures; 3. Modifying the algae that give corals essential nutrients.

Hughes said the methods all have proven successful in the lab. And while some other scientists worried this is meddling with nature, Hughes said the rapidly warming planet leaves no other options. "We have to intervene in order to make a change for coral reefs to survive into the future," she said.

When ocean temperatures rise, coral releases its symbiotic algae that supply nutrients and impart its vibrant colors. The coral turns white — a process called bleaching — and can quickly become sick and die.

For more than a decade, scientists have been observing corals that have survived bleaching, even when others have died on the same reef. So, researchers are focusing on those hardy survivors, hoping to enhance their heat tolerance. And they found selective breeding held the most promise for Hawaii's reefs. "Corals are threatened worldwide by a lot of stressors, but increasing temperatures are probably the most severe," said Crawford Drury, chief scientist at Hawaii's Coral Resilience Lab. "And so that's what our focus is on, working with parents that are really thermally tolerant."

In 2015, Ruth Gates, who launched the resilience lab, and Madeleine van Oppen of the Australian Institute of Marine Science published a paper on assisted evolution during one of the world's worst bleaching events. The scientists proposed bringing corals into a lab to help them evolve into more heat-tolerant animals. And the idea attracted Microsoft co-founder Paul Allen, who funded the first phase of research and whose foundation still supports the program.

"We've given (coral) experiences that we think are going to raise their ability to survive," Gates told The Associated Press in a 2015 interview. Gates, who died of brain cancer in 2018, also said she wanted people to know how "intimately reef health is intertwined with human health."

Coral reefs, often called the rainforests of the sea, provide food for humans and marine animals, shoreline protection for coastal communities, jobs for tourist economies and even medicine to treat illnesses such as cancer, arthritis and Alzheimers disease.

A recent report from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and other research organizations concluded bleaching events are the biggest threat to the world's coral reefs. Scientists found that between 2009 and 2018, the world lost about 14% of its coral.

Assisted evolution was not widely accepted when first proposed. Van Oppen said there were concerns about losing genetic diversity and critics who said the scientists were "playing gods" by tampering with the reef. "Well, you know, (humans) have already intervened with the reef for very long periods of time," van Oppen said.

IN A DISCUSSION, CURATED BY CE, AMBASSADORS NIRUPAMA RAO AND N PARTHASARATHI, BOTH LEADING CAREER DIPLOMATS, DEBATE THE FORMER'S NEWLY-RELEASED BOOK, THE FRACTURED HIMALAYA

BORDERS, BATTLES & BEYOND

PIC: VINOD KUMAR T; LOCATION COURTESY: THE OBEROI, BENGALURU

THE India-China war in 1962 continues to present itself as the most 'unfortunate' and 'avoidable' event almost 60 years since it took place. The complexities during the run-up to the war and the continued strained relationship between the two countries, with the emergence of Covid in Wuhan adding an extra layer of geopolitical intrigue, are serious points of debate.

It is a Thursday morning and leading career diplomats Nirupama Rao and N Parthasarathi are in conversation about the former's new book, The Fractured Himalaya: India Tibet China 1949-1962, published by Penguin Random House India (₹779). As the former ambassador to China (2006-2009) and as ambassador to the USA (2011-2013), Rao has crossed paths with Parthasarathi on several occasions. Parthasarathi recalls the time in 2007 when he visited China during his stint as the Ambassador to South Korea. What awaited him was Rao's grand welcome to her official residence, remembers Parthasarathi, who also served as the Consul General of India in San Francisco. However, what brings them to the same table on this weekday is the most contentious and complex conflict between the two prominent Asian countries, which has been central to every Indian diplomat's journey.

For the exhaustive 683-page book, Rao has woven in her decades'-long diplomatic experience into a serious project to document the events involving India and China from 1949-1962. Post her retirement in 2014, she started work on the book which takes a deep dive into former PM Jawaharlal Nehru's alleged 'miscalculations' in studying China, the role of Tibet, and the growing tensions between the two nations from 1959.

Opening up on how the book evolved, Rao tells Parthasarathi that it benefited from the extensive archival material available on different platforms, including rare access to the archives of the People's Republic of China under the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. "I researched for seven years starting 2014 and completed it in early 2021. Thanks to the lockdown, it enforced some discipline as far as writing was concerned. Having studied our relations with China extensively, I felt that I had found a suitable point in my life and experience to write about this subject," says Rao, who also served as India's Foreign Secretary (2009-2011).

> From PM Nehru to Defence Minister Krishna Menon, Chairman Mao and Premier Zhou Enlai, the characters in the conflict make us imagine a visual sequence
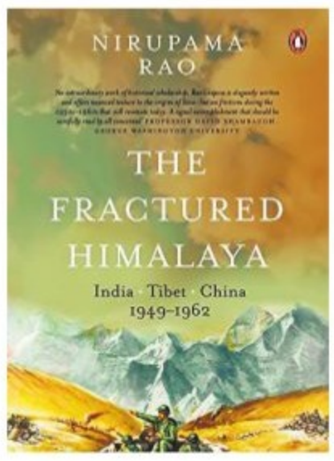
>
> - N Parthasarathi, diplomat

The characters in the interplay of India-China relations were many, as Parthasarathi observes, the multiple stakeholders in the conflict offering a wide canvas. "From PM Nehru to Defence Minister Krishna Menon, Chairman Mao and Premier Zhou Enlai, the characters in the conflict make us imagine a visual sequence," says Parthasarathi.

Throwing light on Tibet and how it became central to the conflict between India and China, Rao and Parthasarathi delve into the deep spiritual and religious connections India and Tibet share. Referring to the pilgrimages to the Himalayas, Kailash and Mansarovar, the ambassadors point out that India's cultural links with Tibet have a long-standing history. "When I studied the subject of Tibet as a practitioner, I realised that the India-China boundary is so well connected with our linkages with Tibet. Although it is an autonomous region of China, there is no dispute about that. When the PLA (People's Liberation Army) entered Tibet in 1950-1951, the then representative Lhasa Sumol Sinha said that 'the Chinese have entered Tibet and the Himalayas no longer exist'. In fact the title of my book takes inspiration from this famous line," says Rao.



Referring to the 1954 Sino-Indian Agreement, Parthasarathi observes that former PM Nehru directed the administration to draw 'one single line' that became the definitive line between India and China. In an attempt to provide transparency, Nehru did not quite deliver the right information of what was transpiring at the boundary. "The book underlines that the eastern part of the 4,000-km border with China, including the Tawang region, was well consolidated," Parthasarathi says.

Responding to the final moments leading up to the war, Rao says, "From the Chinese falsely claiming that India started dabbling with Tibet's politics and with China revealing the Aksai Chin highway, many factors contributed to the strained relationship between India and China. The scope for Nehru to negotiate was completely closed. Meanwhile, China suffered a period of regression and famine, the rift with the Soviet Union was widening, and Mao was under great pressure from the PLA. This and other factors contributed to the insecurity within China making the borders tense and confrontational."

Currently in the second print, Rao hopes that the next step is a translated version into other Indian languages. As we conclude the session, with talks still centring around the book, Rao points out that it has all the elements and characters suitable for an OTT series. Rightly so.

NEHRU AND CHINA

What the book also focuses on are the personalities of two leaders – Jawaharlal Nehru and Zhou Enlai. Parthasarathi believes that Nehru was a statesman but the one who 'loses out'; on the other hand, Enlai is a shrewd personality and the one 'who takes advantage' of Nehru.

"Nehru always thought China would not attack India," says Parthasarathi, to which Rao points out, "The book also mentions that PM Nehru in his subconscious mind always sensed an expansionist threat from China. He refused to line-up with China on many counts. When it came to North-Eastern borders, he took the step to advance the administration right upto the border to consolidate the territorial interest and ensure that India's sovereignty is not violated."

FIT BIT

EKA PADA TADASANA

(ONE- LEGGED MOUNTAIN POSE)

In Sanskrit, eka means 'one', pada means 'leg', tada means 'mountain' and asana means 'pose'. It is a standing balancing yoga pose on one leg, and a variation of the simple Tadasana (Mountain Pose). At beginners' level of practice, this variation is generally part of the yoga sequence where the focus is to improve balance with simple standing yoga poses. It is considered a simple hip abduction. It is considered a warm-up yoga pose to prepare the body for more intense yoga poses or flow.

STEPS

- First, stand in hip rotation flow; come to stand in front of the wall in Tadasana (Mountain Pose) and take a few breaths to relax and connect.
- Then, inhale and raise the Prosthesis Leg and bring it in an external rotation.
- Then, exhale and push it outwards as you take the thigh and leg out.
- Now, you can inhale/exhale to hold this for about four breaths.
- You could hold the thigh with your hand to give support. Inhale/exhale - release and relax inhale.
- Then, raise the Natural Leg and bring it outwards. Exhale - push the thighs out stretching it in an outwards rotation as you hold the wall for support.
- Now, inhale/exhale to stay for about four breaths. Then inhale/exhale - release and relax.

BENEFITS

- This pose helps to build endurance while also improving the range of motion of the hips and the knees. More supportive to the spine as well as the back.
- When with a prosthesis leg the entire body feels heavy and tired, adding to an overall emotionally draining feeling.
- It builds strength along with balance on both sides of the spine.
- The glute muscles around the hips are engaged, improving both in stretching and tightening them.
- It improves focus on awareness of the body and breath.
- It can also be done with some support like a wall or chair.
- It works as therapy towards any injury to the hips or any part of the leg, and restorative for senior citizens.
- Irrespective of the nature of this practice, the posture brings in all the benefits.

LIMITATIONS

- If there is any kind of injury at the hips, the knees or the ankles, avoid this.
- If anyone finds it difficult to balance, care should be taken to use alternative methods.
- Using the wall or a chair to hold can be a good alternative.

Good morning namma-ooru!

SOMETIMES the week seems to just fly by at the speed of light and one cannot figure out one day to the next! The last was one such 'whizz-by' week. Of course, the most important topic was the slow and steady advent of the 'Greek alphabet named virus' Omicron into our lives. The government policy of only allowing the vaccinated into malls and cinema houses was a move lauded by all. I think it should be mandated into all the public spheres of our life. Those of us who have doctors and health workers in our extended families constantly worry about their exposure to virus-infected patients. Infection can happen even after a vaccination (as the idiot anti-vaxxers keep screaming from the rooftops), but the non-vaccinated are sure fire carriers, and in fact, the intensity of the viral load is higher and fatal for the unvaccinated. And...who are they treated by? The vaccinated doctors and health workers! Ironical, isn't it?

We were invited to a swish black-tie dinner (where one newly-minted socialite wore a white shirt and black tie, just to be on the safe side I suppose!), at a star hotel. The hosts were the very exclusive Prava, Evolve Furniture brand. What I loved about the event on the whole was that we were politely sent a note with the invitation to carry our double vaccination certificates or a negative RT-PCR report with us. I mentally lauded their responsible stand and vowed to buy a very pretty piece of sustainable furniture. Why sustainable? Because as a responsible brand, they realise that discarding expensive furniture is a waste and one does want to change things around at one time or the other. So, their CEO, a very dishy Ajith Kaimpana explained that the company has a buy-back-policy where one can trade in their old furniture for the new stuff. A very smart policy...just like asking for a Covid certificate!

Christmas seems to be rubbing off on our city. What with the temperatures dropping, stylish warm clothes and stockings seem to be making a comeback. But after nearly two years of forced hibernation it feels very nice to see a lit Christmas tree, children caroling and some excellent mulled wine and traditional Christmas fare like eggnogs, plum cakes and the like making an appearance. The Leela Palace does things in style and the intimate Christmas soiree saw a turnout of happy friends, wearing bright colours and generally 'feeling' the season. One can enjoy oneself without constantly being fearful. Good for the hotels/restaurants and good for us. It's a win-win situation for everyone. Unlike at particular major hotel chain that irresponsibly put the whole city and everyone they came into contact with at risk, by letting a Covid infected individual roam about freely and then letting him check-out to catch a flight. All this after being cautioned by the BBMP to quarantine him! One has to take some moral responsibility. A mere phone call to the regulatory authorities could have stopped this. At the end of the day, this complacency can have grave repercussions on the mental and physical well-being of this city. There are rumours of strict curfews if this communicable virus cannot be controlled.

All this ill-feeling was washed away by the Hanukkah or the festival of lights celebrations by Consul-General, Jonathan Zadka, at The Den Hotel. Celebrating Hanukkah is a very humbling and spiritual ritual where the eight candle is lit on the Menorah. Indian friends, who jointly collaborated in industry and social work, were also acknowledged. It was a beautiful and inclusive celebration that encompassed the Jewish and non-Jewish population of Bengaluru. It was an added treat to have met up with the elegant populace of auld Bengaluru.

Educating the mind without educating the heart is no education at all...so let's be morally responsible too.

Chocolate Cake with Vanilla Butter Cream Frosting

(Recipe by Shikha Krishna, @outofthisworld_food)

FOR CHOCOLATE SPONGE

DRY INGREDIENTS

- Plain flour 116 gm
- Castor sugar 123 gm
- Cocoa powder 20 gm
- Baking soda 1/4 tsp
- Salt 1/8 tsp
- Semi-sweet chocolate chips 50 gm

WET INGREDIENTS

- Whole milk 1/3 cup, mixed in white vinegar 1/4 tsp
- Coffee mixed 1/4 tsp, in water 1/3 cup
- Sunflower oil 1/3 cup
- Egg 1

METHOD FOR CHOCOLATE SPONGE

- Line a muffin tin, with cupcake liners.
- Sift all dry ingredients, except the chocochips.
- Mix all the wet ingredients.
- Mix the chocochips in the dry ingredients, so as to coat all chocochips with the dry mixture.
- Pour the wet mix into the dry mix and whisk till smooth.
- The batter would be quite liquidy, pour it into a jug and fill in the cake liners till 3/4 fill.
- Bake for 25 - 30 min at 180°C, or till a toothpick comes out clean.
- After removing the cupcakes from the oven, let them cool in the muffin tin for 5 min, then transfer them to a wire rack to cool completely.

FOR VANILLA BUTTERCREAM ICING

- Softened unsalted butter 75 gm
- Icing sugar 150 gm
- Pure vanilla extract 1 tsp
- Milk 3-4 tbsp

METHOD FOR VANILLA BUTTERCREAM ICING

- With an electric hand whisk, in a large bowl, beat the soft butter until pale and fluffy. The more the butter is beaten, the fluffier the icing would be.
- Sift the icing sugar. Then add it spoon by spoon to the beaten butter, while keeping the electric whisk on. Scrape the sides of the bowl every now and then. Repeat this process till all sugar is completely mixed with the butter.
- Mix the pure vanilla extract in the milk. Add it to the butter and sugar mixture and using the electric hand whisk, give a final churn to get a smooth icing.
- You may add or subtract 1 tbsp of milk depending on the desired consistency.

FOR ASSEMBLING

- Use a large piping bag with a round nozzle.
- Fill in the butter cream till 3/4 full.
- Pipe the icing on the completely cooled chocolate cupcake.
- Decorate with sprinkles, chocolate sauce, nuts or fondant toppers as desired.

SWEET SOMETHING

Sometimes a balanced diet is having a cupcake in each hand. Here are some fun-to-make cupcake recipes you can try at home

- Hot water ½ cup

NUTELLA FROSTING

- Unsalted butter 1 cup
- Powdered sugar 4 cups
- Nutella 1/2 cup
- Milk 2 tbsp
- Vanilla extract 1 tsp

METHOD

- Pre-heat the oven to 180°C.
- Whisk the dry ingredients in a bowl.
- Combine eggs, buttermilk, vegetable oil and vanilla in another bowl.
- Add dry ingredients to wet ingredients alternatively and mix until combined.
- Add the hot water to the batter and mix well.
- Fill the cupcake liners to about half and bake for 18-20 mins. Let it cool.
- In a bowl, add butter and powdered sugar, beat until smooth.
- Add vanilla and milk.
- Add Nutella and stir till combined.
- Pipe the frosting into the cupcakes.

Liqueur love

KRISHNA MURTHY A R

The writer is senior beverage manager Otto's Restobar

LIQUEURS are basically sweetened alcoholic beverages that range from 15 to 55 per cent ABV (Alcohol By Volume). The flavours are obtained by a method of infusion, distillation and also by maceration (soaking in the spirit). It originated as a practice of adding aromatic ingredients like herbs, fruit extracts, seeds, spices, nuts, roots and flowers to the earliest distilled spirit. Initially, the purpose of this was to mask the impurities that remained after rectification, and also to provide a distinctive medicinal value or purpose.

Liqueurs are historical descendants of herbal medicines. They were made in Italy as early as the 13th century, often prepared by monks (for example, Chartreuse). Liqueur is often served with or after dessert, and served neat, over ice, with coffee, as an ingredient in cocktails (liqueurs like Triple Sec and Cointreau are used while making Margarita), and they are also used in cooking.

It was in the 19th century that it became a major business compared to earlier times when it was pretty much limited to family businesses. At the time, the liqueurs had an aura of being soothingly palatable after dinner digestifs for people. They substituted the likes of whiskey and cognac with liqueurs which had a high alcohol content.

There are different kinds of liqueurs that are available like Berry Liqueurs, Chocolate, Coffee, Cream, Flower, Herbal, Honey, Anise and Nut flavoured as well. Whisky liqueurs are also very popular.

Orange liqueurs are probably the most widespread, and there is a wide variety of Orange liqueurs made with different liquor bases from different parts of the world. Some of these are:

GRAND MARNIER: French orange liqueur with cognac as the base.

COINTREAU: French orange liqueur with Brandy as the base and flavoured with bitter oranges.

TRIPLE SEC: Orange liqueur made with neutral spirit as the base and flavoured with oranges from Curacao islands.

Some of the other popular liqueurs are:

AMARETTO: An Italian liqueur made from brandy base and flavoured with almonds.

MALIBU: Caribbean liqueur made with rum as the base, and flavoured with coconut pulp.

THE TRUTH, LIES, AND EVERYTHING IN BETWEEN

A SHARADHAA

DRISHYA 2

Cast: V. Ravichandran, Navya Nair, Aarohi Narayan, Unnathi, Anant Nag, Lasya Nagaraj, and Pramod Shetty

Director: P Vasu

THOUGH the number of multilingual films is on the rise, there is no dearth of filmmakers wanting to do quality remakes. The Drishyam series is a good example. Ever since the Malayalam sequel, Drishyam 2, was released, there were huge expectations for director P Vasu's Kannada remake of the film. If asked whether Crazy Star Ravichandran version of Drishyam 2 manages to match the original Mohanlal-starrer? The answer is: Yes, to a large extent.

In Drishya (2014), Rajendra Ponnappa (Ravichandran) with his small family, was leading a happy life. An untoward incident puts on the radar of the police. The first part of the film was about outsmarting the law and cops to keep his family safe. Now, the case gets reopened and the sequel is all about if Rajendra Ponnappa can pull it off again. The film kicks off at a slow pace, and we see Rajendra Ponnappa, a rich theatre owner, who is aspiring to become a film producer. He is seen working on a story along with Vijay Shankar (Anant Nag).

On the other hand, his wife's conservative mindset hasn't changed. She is extra concerned about her family and her two daughters. And top of it, she is now also worried about her husband's new drinking habits. Rajendra Ponappa, who is trying to balance his cable business, his passion to become a producer, makes sure that his family is protected. He is watchful and aware of how the perception of the neighborhood of his family has changed. Things get intense when the police get a breakthrough in the murder case.

Yet, again Rajendra Ponnappa does everything in his power to save his family. The film is high on emotions and thrilling at the same time. The climax might have brought relief to Rajendra Ponnappa but there is a hint that there might be in the universe of Drishya.

RATING 3/5

Director P Vasu retains the original flavour. He has only changed the place, actors, and atmosphere to match the Kannada nativity, and running time cut short by 6 minutes. Ravichandran retains the charm of Rajendra Ponnappa in the sequel as well. Even though he is aware that the character is played by many leading stars in their respective industry, the Kannada star brings his individuality to the character.

Navya Nair, who scorches a good screen space along with the hero, has also given out a neat performance. The other supporting actors Aarohi Narayan, Unnathi, Anant Nag, Asha Sarath, Prabhu, and Pramod Shetty have justified their respective characters. Shivaram, Lasya Nagaraj, and Sampath also play crucial roles in the film. A tense narrative is made lighter with Sadhu Kokila's comedy.

Drishya 2 is a faithful remake but it is still fresh for Kannada audiences, who can experience it in theatres. Drishya 2, which overall belongs to Ravichandran, makes for a good family outing.

AANA TO HIT THEATRES ON DECEMBER 17

The film, directed by debutant Manoj P Nadalumane, stars Aditi Prabhudeva in a titular role

CE FEATURES

THE trailer of Aditi Prabhudeva-starrer, Aana, was released recently, and the team has now announced the release date. The directorial debut of Manoj P Nadalumane, which is billed to be the first female superhero film in Kannada, is slated for December 17 release.

The film has passed the censor Board with a U/A certificate. The first-time director, in his previous interview with CE, revealed that his film will not just highlight the hero and heroine, but will give a lot of scope for the technicians.

Aditi plays the titular role in Aana, which is made by UK Productions. The film has Ritvik Muralidhar scoring the music, and the cinematographer is Uday Leela.

Aditi Prabhudeva

Seth Rogen, Elle Fanning to star opposite Dev Patel in Chippendales

Elle Fanning

CE FEATURES

ACTORS Seth Rogen and Elle Fanning will star opposite Dev Patel in the upcoming film Chippendales.

Director Craig Gillespie, who helmed the 2017 Academy Award-winning film I, Tonya, is signed to direct the film. The ambitious production has been in planning for nearly twenty years.

Chippendales is based on a real-life crime that shook the idea of the American dream. The story follows Steve Banerjee (Dev Patel), an Indian immigrant's rise and fall in America as he sets up a strip club specialising in shows of female mud wrestling and exotic male striptease. The club, which gave a platform to the then famous "Chippendales" theatre group, takes a hit when Banerjee's co-creator Paul Snider kills Banerjee's playboy bunny girlfriend Dorothy Stratten, sending the protagonist into a downward spiral of legal battles. Fanning is in discussions to take on the role of Stratten, while Rogen is being considered for the part of Nick De Noia, the choreographer who came up with Chippendales routine.

Seth Rogen

Lauren Blum and Rebecca Angelo are writing the final draft based on a previous draft by Craig Williams and Isaac Adamson. New Regency, Permut Productions and Bold Films will produce Chippendales.

Ranveer Singh and Deepika Padukone

Deepika, Ranveer Singh, producers of 83 in hot water, complaint filed on grounds of cheating

CE FEATURES

83, Kapil Dev's biopic landed in hot water after a criminal complaint was filed against all producers of the film including Ranveer Singh and Deepika Padukone. The two actors co-produced the project and also starred in it.

According to a report in India Today, a case has been registered against the makers of the sports drama following allegations of cheating. A financier based in the United Arab Emirates filed a complaint at the Andheri Metropolitan Magistrate Court in Mumbai. The financier alleged that the makers of 83— Vibri Media —promised him good returns after they invested approximately Rs 16 crores.

The complainant further explained that their money was used up in different agreements that involved Kabir Khan, Sajid Nadiadwala, and Deepika Padukone among others. The money was also allegedly used in the production of 83. No consent was received from the financier, however, and this led to the complaint against the producers of the Ranveer Singh-starrer.

Advocate Rizwan Siddiquee stated that his client, FZE, filed a criminal complaint on the grounds of cheating and criminal conspiracy. 83 is directed by Kabir Khan and stars Ranveer Singh as Kapil Dev. Deepika Padukone will appear in an extended cameo as Kapil Dev's wife Romi Bhatia.

The film also stars Pankaj Tripathi, Tahir Raj Bhasin, Jiiva, Saqib Saleem, Jatin Sarna, Chirag Patil, Dinker Sharma, Nishant Dahiya, Harrdy Sandhu, Sahil Khattar, and Ammy Virk in important roles. 83 is set to be released on December 24.

GETS LOST IN THE WOODS

SHILAJIT MITRA

ARANYAK

Cast: Raveena Tandon, Parambrata Chatterjee, Ashutosh Rana, Meghna Malik, Zakir Hussain

Streaming on: Netflix

You didn't see enough female cops in the Hindi cinema of the nineties. What you did see, however, were cop wives, flustered homemakers admonishing or egging on their husbands. Raveena Tandon memorably played one in the cult classic Shool (1999). In that film, Manoj Bajpayee's character is so duty-obsessed that he repeatedly puts his family in the path of danger. Their suffering is taken for a fact. "We love you, that's why we tolerate you," his wife says on her deathbed.

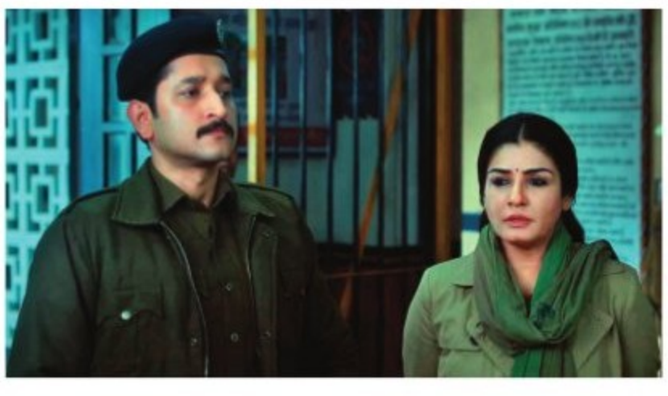
I find it a bit strange that, as Raveena dons her first big cop role in Aranyak, her character's first gesture, again, is towards home. In the Netflix series, the actor is Kasturi Dogra, a middle-aged station officer in the fictional hill town of Sironah. Kasturi has held the post for years, with middling success. She isn't ambitious in the 'I will root out crime for good' sense—more in the 'I want to kick ass and land one big murder mystery' sense. Yet, when one such case finally comes her way, she is going on leave. The reason? Family.

Directed by Vinay Waikul and written by Charudutt Acharya, Aranyak achieves some competent scene-setting in its opening episode. Several characters are introduced, a murder is unearthed, and that's about it. We meet a wily politician (Zakir Hussain), his canny rival (Meghna Malik), their sons and daughters. The victim is a 19-year-old French teen named Amiee Baptiste (Anastasiya Hamolka). The girl's mother approaches the new SHO, Angad (Parambrata Chatterjee), telling him that her daughter and boyfriend are missing. Kasturi, who's there to clear out her stuff, is unconvinced. "Charsi, jhooti," she calls the woman before whacking her in the face. There goes the tourism bids.

RATING 2/5

Kasturi teams up with Angad to solve the case. She had taken the one-year sabbatical to be with her kids (and also spruce up her marriage), but starts tailing her substitute everywhere. It's an equation reminiscent of Olivia Coleman and David Tenant's in the crime series Broadchurch. Kasturi, like Coleman's character, is a local, though far less sensitive and resourceful. She bungles through Sironah like it's a playground— not a place she has worked and resided in and feels responsible for. Her family life, likewise, feels more scripted than lived. Kasturi's husband, Hari (Vivek Daman), is the scoffing, jealous sort. And what could her chillum-smoking father-in-law (Ashutosh Rana) be called? Of course, Mahadev.

Aranyak has the visual palette of your average mountain thriller—by the third or fourth episode, I was tired of seeing cars snaking through darkened roads. The clichés are piled on in comical succession: bodies dangling from trees, a murky 'resort project', a fabled 'leopard-man' stalking the woods. This is the sort of show where the cops always arrive a little late and a suspect slips out the window. Our leads spend most of their time chatting and strategizing. Even better thrillers rely on exposition, but not like Aranyak. Long after the audience has made that conclusion, Angad says something is odd, to which Kasturi replies: "Haan, ho sakta hai..."



Parambrata Chatterjee coolly delivers what's asked of him. His extended presence makes this an unlikely vehicle for Raveena—Kasturi, it often feels, is closer to sidekick than lead. Her conflicted family life and subdued ambitions fade in and out of view. Raveena has always shone in stronger roles, yet Aranyak slips her by. It's more like a medley ('tough cop', 'apologetic mother', 'torn wife') than a full, complete performance. Any tenderness is nipped in the bud—there's a small moment where Kasturi slips on Angad's arm, then recovers and tells him off.

The central mystery becomes too convoluted to follow, too sluggish to care. There was a time when Indian thrillers were made on the cheap. They were quick, kitschy and remarkably self-aware. The advent of streaming has changed all that. Shows like Aranyak aim for prestige. What they forget to have is a bit of fun.
